CLOSE SENATE RACE IS SEEN IN MARYLAND

Colonel Tydings, Democrat, Is Gaining Strength Over Rival

WET ISSUE IMPORTANT

Basic Power of Coolidge Party May Throw Victory to Weller

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
(Copyright 1926 by Post Pub. Co.)
Baltimore, Md.—When a border state like Maryland has to be put in the doubtful column, it is always a sign that the Republicans are making an appeal to Independent Democrats. That appears to be the case here this year.

For the contest between Senator Weller, Republican, and Colonel Tydings, Democrat, I as resolved myself into a struggle for the votes of the business and financial community in Baltimore—the balance of power in Maryland elections has developed the habit of going Republican in national affairs. A4 though John W. Davis was well thought of in this state, the fear of La Follette transcended every other consideration and Mr. Coolidge won by an overwhelming majority. President Wilson, however, carried the state twice. Governor Ritchie, Democrat, has been elected twice and is running for a third term with every assurance of victory.

NATIONAL ISSUE DECIDES

So Maryland can be considered in many respects a Democratic state. But national politics usually swings the independent vote. Just now Senator Weller, Republican, is appealing for support on the ground that he is a member of the majority party and that he can do more for Maryland in the senate than can a new member of the minority. He is making the type of aggressive campaign that is to be noted in other states. He is circulating the voters and arguing that the Coolidge administration deserves support through a vote for him.

Colonel Tydings is a young man and well liked. The national issue will swing into the result somewhat because Maryland is wet. The Republican primary witnessed a contest between John Philip Hill, an extreme wet, and Mr. Weller, who is sympathetic with the wet side of the controversy. The primary left some seats undecided. Many of the votes that Mr. Hill would have received had he won the nomination now will go to Col. Tydings, Democrat.

DRIFT TOWARD TYDINGS

The drift is toward Colonel Tydings and were it not for the basic strength of the Coolidge administration his victory would be assured. But the rural districts are strongly Republican and there will be a large Republican vote cast in the city of Baltimore. On the face of it the race looks even but at the moment the chances of a Weller victory by a close margin seem to be better than those of Colonel Tydings.

Maryland is a well organized state, practically speaking, and the usual amount of factionalism which develops out of the struggle for party control. Broadly speaking, there are no national issues in the campaign at all. It is the contest of individuals. In this respect, Maryland is not wholly unlike other states. Interest in the campaign is not what it has been in off-years before. Whether this apathy is due to satisfaction with things as they are or to the fact that the campaign has not been enlivened by discussion of real issues is a matter of secondary importance.

The fact is that the campaign is not attracting as much attention as senatorial contests are in other states. The Republican strength in Maryland is significant of the trend elsewhere. Certainly not much evidence of dissatisfaction with the national administration has been uncovered and if a border state presents an evenly balanced fight the indications are that in the normally Republican states the defections to the minority party will not be considerable.

MAJOR GENERAL BELL IS DEAD IN CHICAGO

Chicago—(P)—Major General George Bell, Jr., retired, commander of the Thirty-third division in France, died here Thursday night of pernicious anemia. He was 67. For a week General Bell had been in a serious condition. His wife and old service friends were at his side when he died.

General Bell, who as war-time commander of the Third division, led a large share of the Illinois troops in A. E. F. campaigning and was a much decorated veteran in army service which included action in the Philippines and Cuba.

EXONERATE DRIVER OF CAR WHICH KILLED MAN

Chicago—(P)—Fred Geimer of Two Rivers, who was charged with having driven the automobile which killed an elderly man, was Friday exonerated by the coroner's jury which recommended that he be released.

DYNAMITE PLACED ON RAIL TO WRECK TRAIN AT ASHLAND

Ashtland—(P)—What is believed to have been an attempt to wreck a train on the Omaha road near here failed Wednesday. Charles Erickson, a farmer living near Ashtland Junction, picked up a stick of dynamite, one end of which has been crushed by the wheels of a train about two miles south of Ashtland Junction, it was learned Thursday.

The explosive according to Erickson apparently had been placed on the rail and a passing train, believed to have been the south-bound Ashtland-Twin Cities local passenger, had run over part of it, narrowly missing the car.

DROP CHARGES MADE AGAINST WRIGHT IN SUIT

Architect and Companion Won't Be Prosecuted in Sauk-co

Minneapolis—(P)—Fugitive from justice charges against Frank Lloyd Wright and his companion, Mme. Olga Milano, were dropped in police court here Friday at the request of Wisconsin authorities.

This action came when Assistant County Attorney David Goldblatt read a telegram from District Attorney Henry J. Bohn of Baraboo, saying that no action would be taken there on the warrants charging the couple with adultery upon which the fugitive charges were based.

AGREEMENT IS REACHED
Withdrawal of the adultery charges was made possible, according to Vladimir Hinzberg, former husband of Mrs. Milano, the complainant refused to prosecute after making an agreement with the dancer whereby he is to share custody of their 9-year-old daughter, Svetlana.

Wright alone was present for the brief ceremony, his companion still is under the care of a physician following a collapse two days ago.

Although technically clear of the state charges, the couple must appear before United States Commissioner Howard Abbott Saturday for a preliminary hearing on Mann act charges growing out of their elopement from Spring Green to Lake Minnetonka, near here where they were arrested last week.

HINZBERG WIRES BOHN

Baraboo—(P)—Vladimir Hinzberg has telegraphed District Attorney Henry J. Bohn of Sauk-co, to destroy the adultery warrants which Hinzberg swore out there in September against his divorced wife, Olga Milano, and Frank Lloyd Wright, the Spring Green architect.

District Attorney Bohn wired back to Hinzberg: "Received your telegram in regard to dismissal of the Wright case. You did not ask my advice in starting this thing. I don't think I need any advice from you in the matter of dismissing it." The district attorney however will quash the warrants, he intimated.

DYNAMITE BLAST IS SET OFF IN CATHOLIC CHURCH

Sau Francisco—(P)—A dynamite explosion in the St. Peter and Paul's Catholic church here early Friday did considerable damage. Six priests were in the edifice at the time. This is the third time in ten months that the church has been blasted.

The blast did several thousand dollars damage to the structure. The oak doors were blown off, stained glass windows were shattered and a hole was made in a granite stairway.

WIRE TICKS

Montreal—(P)—Chemically you are worth only 98 cents, the drug store value of time, sugar, iron and water that you are made of. Life insurance companies make your economic value $5,000. The $4,999.02, Dr. Allan Cruik of Chicago, told the American College of Surgeons, is the value of the spirit within you.

Philadelphia—Miss Elinor Dorrance, 18-year-old heiress, is punching the time clock at 8:30 every morning the same as other employees of her father's company which makes Campbell's soups. Tired of social life, she wants a business career. She is in the cashier's department. She will inherit many millions, having no brothers or sisters.

TENT BURNING RIOT HEARING NEARLY ENDED

Arguments of Attorneys Open Session in Marinette Trial

Marinette—(P)—Arguments of attorneys opened the riot trial in circuit court here Friday morning, the defense having completed their testimony before adjournment at Thursday's session. Nine Marinette men are facing a charge of rioting and destruction of property as a result of a disturbance here last June when a Ku Klux Klan tent was burned.

Four of the defendants were on the stand Wednesday morning and the remaining five, Leo Sequin, Eugene Seid, Clyde Barrett, Leo Bellaire and Mike Shultry, taking the stand denied all allegations of the states witnesses in their connection with the riot.

Each of the defendants under questioning of their attorneys, told of their presence at various places near the Klan meeting, and all of them testified that they were away from the grounds during the time the tent was pulled down and burned by the mob which numbered more than 1,000.

DENIES DAMAGING TENT
Each of the quintet denied that they had done anything to damage the tent, in which the Klansmen were holding a revival meeting the night of June 25, when the disturbance occurred, or that they had taken part in the riot.

The four defendants who testified Wednesday morning were: Ray Reeve, Meddie Villeneuve, James Murtha and Harold Bennett. They also denied all allegations by the state's witnesses that they were connected with the incitement of the riot. Michael Schwartzler, 17, presented to the court an American flag, very much intact which was declared by a state's witness to have been torn and misused by the mob on the night of the riot.

The charge against the men is punishable by either a fine or jail sentence the maximum being a year in jail. It is expected that the arguments will be completed before late Friday afternoon and that the jury would receive the case before night-fall. There is keen interest in the trial and the court room is crowded.

The trial is heard by Judge William B. Quinlan.

EXAMINE BODY OF MURDERED SINGER

Physician Works to Determine Whether Tongue Was Cut Out

Somerville, N. J.—(P)—Determination of the question whether the tongue of Miss Eleanor Mills was cut out after she was slain with the Rev. Edward Wheeler Hall engaged the attention of investigators Friday.

Mrs. Mills body was removed Thursday from its four year old grave in order to be examined by the trial jury. The next week of the slain clergyman's widow and her two brothers who are accused of the double murder. Dr. Otto H. Schulze of the New York district attorney's office discovered at an autopsy four years ago that the choir singer's throat had been slashed. Recent rumors have it that her tongue was also cut out.

"I can't say just now whether the tongue was cut out or not," Dr. Schulze declared. "There must be an analysis to determine that definitely, but it seems very likely that it may have been done. I don't know and will not know until I complete an analysis of the organs which I am taking to the laboratories in New York City."

The trial of Mrs. Hall and her brothers will be broadcast. It is announced by station WJNY located in the Hotel Roosevelt, New York.

GREEN BAY MAN NAMED HEAD OF REALTOR BODY

Racine—(P)—P. F. Dolan, Green Bay, was elected president of the Wisconsin Association of Real Estate Brokers, which closed its annual convention here Thursday night. Dwight T. Parker, state commissioner of banking, told the real estate men that Wisconsin's prosperity is outstanding in the country. While hundreds of banks have failed in other states in the past five years, Mr. Parker said only 21 were closed in Wisconsin. Officers elected were August Schri, Milwaukee, vice president; Perry Powell, Milwaukee, executive secretary and Arthur Ehrlich, Racine, secretary-treasurer.

ANNOUNCE WEDDING OF "HORSEMAN" IN MICHIGAN

Green Bay—(P)—James Crowley, a member of the famous four horsemen of Notre Dame, was married at Iron Mountain, Mich., last Aug. 21, to Miss Helen Mae McCleary, of Escanaba, Mich., according to announcement received here Friday morning. Crowley is now engaged as headfield football coach at the University of Georgia.

PREPARES TO FACE BANDIT; IS KILLED RESISTING HOLD-UP

Milwaukee—(P)—For many weeks William Straussner had schooled himself in resisting a robber and Thursday he paid with his life when a lone man held him up in his roadside south of Milwaukee.

Straussner, 37, proprietor of the Buckhorn Inn, was killed by a bullet fired by the bandit when Straussner reached for his revolver to fight back. The bandit escaped after rifling the cash register of $20. Straussner's wife and J. A. Wood of Racine, covered by the man's revolver as he retreated through the door, watched him disappear and then turned to Straussner whose lifeless form lay on the floor, with a bullet through the heart.

Having read of many holdups Straussner, his wife, related, had drilled himself in the procedure he would follow should he be the victim of a robber.

HEALTH BOARD PUTS O. K. ON SEWAGE PLANT

Sanitary Engineer Approves Plan for Joint Disposal System

"Unless the municipalities interested make some favorable move toward adopting a program for future sewage disposal, the state board of health will undoubtedly order all cities now dumping sewage into the Fox river to discontinue this practice and build sewage disposal plants," C. M. Baker, sanitary engineer told representatives of lower Fox river valley cities at a meeting in the city hall here Thursday afternoon.

Mr. Baker heartily endorsed the movement started by Combined Localities to build a joint disposal plant for the use of the municipalities of the lower Fox river valley. The proposed plant would be constructed on the Fox river just north of the Kaukauna city limits and would be used by all cities and villages between Neenah and Kaukauna. Sewage would be carried to the plant by a main line which would be built along the Fox river.

DEMAND PROTECTION

"Pollution has come to a point where the public is beginning to demand that the needless destruction of fish and natural beauty of the rivers be stopped," Mr. Baker said. "While a great part of the stream pollution is caused by industries which are dumping their waste into the rivers, we must remember that during the past year the paper mills of this state spent more than $250,000 in an effort to find a means of stopping this waste. Also we must remember that it is not the industrial waste which takes the oxygen from the water."

Mr. Baker explained that ordinarily there should be between 7 and 12 pounds of oxygen to a million pounds of water.

COMPLETE PAVING ON SUPERIOR-ST FRIDAY

Pouring of concrete on S. Superior-st was expected to be completed Friday afternoon and the street opened to traffic next week, the street department reported. Work of paving the street was started about a week ago. It is the last paving project to be completed this year.

The framework for the stairway at the foot of Allen-st has been erected and a small quantity of concrete poured. This work also is expected to be completed in about a week.

Sewer work on the southeast side of the city likewise is progressing at a rapid rate. Starting last week several blocks north of Kernon-ave, workmen have laid sewer from that point down to a large sewer from the head of the street.

'Buddies' Laud Gene As Great 'Square Shooter'

New York—(P)—Representatives of the army, navy and marines at last have had their chance to have Gene Tunney call all themselves and tell him just what they think of a fighting machine who is heavyweight champion of the world.

At Hotel Commodore Thursday night 500 of his American legion "buddies" gave Tunney a suit case and roared their approval when Colonel Theodore Roosevelt who made the presentation declared him a man of fortitude and "a square shooter from the word go." Gene said it was the greatest tribute he had ever received. He then gave Tex Rickard credit for the large purses distributed to boxers Friday and suggested that inasmuch as the doughboy is so undervalued for his services, Tex should handle the promotion of the next war.

General Pershing sent a letter of well wishes.

SENATE PROBE WILL AFFECT VOTE RESULT

Party Leaders Watch Disclosures and Effect on Next Election

St. Louis—(P)—With senate investigation of campaign expenditures in four states already concluded and in two others in progress, political leaders Friday speculated as to the possible effect of the disclosures on the general elections next Tuesday and as to the number of congressional seats which might result.

Reports on the wide scattered inquiry, which individual members of the committee have been conducting, will be placed before the full membership at an early meeting in Washington after the senate convenes. These will be consolidated into a single report, reviewing the situation in each of the states—Pennsylvania, Illinois, Indiana, Washington, Oregon and Arizona. Political activities of the Anti-Saloon League and the Ku Klux Klan probably will form two important sections of the report which will be prepared by Senator Reed, Democrat, Missouri, the chairman, who in his investigations in eastern states has added a mass of testimony touching on these two organizations.

The Klan influence in politics was disclosed during the inquiry into the middle situation in Indiana which Senator Reed conducted at Chicago, Indianapolis, Kansas City and St. Louis.

SHIFT TO ARIZONA

Phoenix, Ariz.—(P)—Investigation of Senatorial election expenditures in western states shifted to Arizona Friday with Senator W. H. King, Democrat, Utah, who has been designated to conduct the inquiry, planning to hear the first witnesses immediately following his arrival here late Saturday night.

Senator Ralph Cameron, Republican, Arizona, who demanded an investigation of reports that a $100,000 fund had been furnished largely by eastern copper interests to support Democratic candidates, Thursday night suggested the names of several persons whom it is understood Senator King expects to examine. Senator Cameron said he would continue the sessions through Saturday night and Sunday if necessary, to complete the inquiry before election Tuesday.

FREE SUSPECT IN DEATH OF WARDENS

Ex-convict Held in Murders Exonerates Man of Giving Him Aid

Marquette—(P)—Brought here as a suspect in the slaying of 22 St. Joseph and Arvid Erickson, state and county game wardens, Joseph Gendron, Detroit, was released from the county jail Thursday night.

Gendron was arrested on a charge of being an accessory after the fact, following the confession of Roy Nunn, ex-convict, who was reported by Captain A. A. Downing of the Michigan state police, to have admitted shooting, the conservation officers and throwing their bodies in Lake Superior. Gendron was arrested in Detroit on reports that Nunn had stated Gendron helped dispose of the bodies. In talks with the ex-convict who is held in a charge of murder, Nunn denied implicating Gendron.

PASSENGER LINER RUNS AGROUND IN DENSE FOG

Mobile, Ala.—(P)—Wireless advices to the Tropical Radio company said the passenger liner Croco of New York went aground in a dense fog Friday at South Pass near the mouth of the Mississippi river.

Finding Of Trunk Adds Evidence In Hoax Trial

District Attorney Says Documents Important in Aimee Hearing

Los Angeles—(P)—A mysterious trunk said to be the property of Kenneth G. Ormiston, fugitive radio operator, kept the Aimee Temple McPherson hearing in the spotlight Friday, in spite of the fact that the taking evidence has ended. The evangelist now awaits the decision of Municipal Judge Blake whether he will determine next week whether she must stand a formal trial for bringing her kidnapping story before a grand jury.

The trunk, seized recently by the police in New York, is said to contain articles of women's wearing apparel bearing labels indicating they had been purchased here. It was located there after having been traced across the continent at the instance of District Attorney Ass. Keyes who said it contains "important documentary evidence, tending to bear out his charge that the Aimee temple pastor spent ten days with Ormiston."

WOUND TWO GUNMEN IN DETROIT HOLD-UP

Patrolman Stops Bank Robbery, but Is Injured in Hot Fight

Detroit—(P)—One bank robber was shot to death and another wounded during a hold-up Friday when a passing patrolman thwarted their attempt to rob the Bank of Detroit Branch at Chopin and Michigan-ave on the west side.

Patrolman Frank J. Dombeky, whose shot dropped the two robbers, was wounded by the hold up men's return fire. The bandit who was wounded at the wheel of their automobile escaped.

A fourth victim of the gun fight was John S. Skiminski, a jeweler. He was trimming his store window when the bank when a stray bullet struck him. The bandit who was wounded at the wheel of their automobile escaped.

"Two of the robbers, one armed with a sawed off shotgun, the other with a revolver, entered the bank, training their weapons on John Block, the manager, Charles Davies, teller and Estelle Zelen, a clerk. At the same moment Albert Coffey, a bank guard opened fire with a shotgun from a turret at the rear. At the first shot the holdup men turned and fled.

Meanwhile children of the neighborhood watching the attempted robbery called to Patrolman Dombeky, who was making an investigation in the neighborhood. Dombeky and his companion, Patrolman William Gade, reached the front of the bank as the bandits ran from the building.

NEGRO MORON GETS LIFE PRISON TERM

Sentence Includes 280 Years on Eleven Indictments in Illinois

Lewistown, Ill.—(P)—Two persons on the heel of a negro moron's shoe Thursday night had thrust him through the gates of Joliet penitentiary for the remainder of his natural life and 280 years.

Andrew Bentley, Canton, Ill., Negro, in circuit court here entertained pleas of guilty to eleven indictments charging rape, assault and burglary. He would not plead to the murder charge facing him as the result of an aged man's death in defense of his 84-year-old wife, a victim of Bentley's attack.

The Negro was arrested at Canton two weeks ago following an attack upon a physician's wife. When questioned following his arrest Bentley denied the accusation, but examination of his shoes disclosed two persons sticking to his heels. A persimmon tree stands in the back yard at the doctor's residence.

Confronted with this evidence Bentley confessed to the crime and to eight other attacks.

BOY IS KILLED DURING HALLOWEEN FRIVOLITIES

Omaha, Neb.—(P)—Eric Kaldick, 16, was shot and killed almost instantly here late Thursday night by Thomas Corvone when the youth and three companions attempted to meet an older building on Corvone's premises as a Halloween prank. Corvone who rushed the lad to a hospital and surrendered to police said he did not intend to hit any of the boys, but meant just to frighten them.

PINCHOT NAMES GOLDEN TO PUBLIC SERVICE BODY

ROSA MANAGER CLAIMS EVJUE 'LIED' IN PAPER

Capital Times Writer Charged With Violating Corrupt Practices Act

SAYS EDITORIAL FALSE

"Destructive Operations" Used to Defeat Rosa, Beloit Man Alleges

Madison—(P)—Harry W. Adams, campaign manager for Charles D. Rosa, independent senatorial candidate Saturday asked District Attorney Philip La Follette to issue a warrant for the arrest of William T. Evjue, editor of the Capital Times on a charge of violating the corrupt practices act. District Attorney La Follette indicated that the warrant would be issued.

At a conference with District Attorney La Follette, Mr. Adams submitted a number of affidavits touching on several statements made in the editorial in the Capital Times which Mr. Adams declared were the basis of his charges.

URGES WARRANT BE ISSUED
Madison—(P)—William E. Evjue, editor of the Capital Times Friday requested District Attorney Philip La Follette to "comply with Mr. Adams' plea and issue the warrant for my arrest."

"I earnestly request that you comply with Mr. Adams' plea and issue the warrant for my arrest. I believe that a good public purpose will be served by such a proceeding. The subject, and the sworn oath will then be invoked to ascertain the truth of charges and countercharges made in this editorial."

In his statement issued Friday morning, Mr. Adams said Mr. Evjue had violated the position of the Capital Times section 1217, which provides "that no person, firm or corporation shall knowingly make or publish or cause to be made or published any false statement in relation to any candidate which statement is intended to or tends to affect any voting at any primary or election."

"I am therefore," he said, "making formal application to District Attorney Philip La Follette to demand for a warrant for your arrest believing it to be my public duty to do so."

Mr. Adams declared that the purpose of the editorial was to "bring about Judge Charles D. Rosa's defeat for office of United States senator by destroying the standing and alienating the following he has among the Progressive Republicans of the state, many of whom are subscribers to your paper, to which they have looked for political information and advice upon which they base their decisions."

"You seek to alienate this great body of high-minded voters from Judge Rosa not by directly attacking his Progressivism and his record (you cannot do that for it is too well known to all) but because I am his campaign manager, by attacking my record as a Progressive and by destroying my standing with this great body of voters, you destroy his."

CHARGES MISSTATEMENT
"First, you begin your destructive operations with this statement which is the gem set among others similar to it."

"I have not been trying to be connected with the state payroll for the last six years, and you know the fact is true. I was in the state payroll for six years. This is a deliberate misstatement."

"I have not been trying to be connected with the state payroll for the last six years, and you know the fact is true. I was in the state payroll for six years. This is a deliberate misstatement."

NOT ANXIOUS FOR OFFICE
"I at no time was anxious for his office," he said, "and felt more pleased than sorry that I did not receive the appointment from Governor Blaine."

Turning to two other statements in the editorial, Mr. Adams said: "Your attempt to destroy Judge Rosa by depicting him as a malefactor in two specific charges. 'First you infer that I deserted La Follette in 1922 and say that I was conspicuous by my absence in Beloit when the old senator spoke in Beloit in 1922. This is a deliberate lie. Just the reverse is true. I was there and made the first speech at his meeting, met him took him to the hall, was there during the entire speech took him from the hall and paid most of the bills. This will be proved by conclusive evidence."

"Second, you charge in the following words that I deserted Senator La Follette in his fight for the presidency in 1924. 'Then in 1924 Mr. Adams wound up his Progressive career by supporting Coolidge for president. This is a gross and deliberate lie and you know it. On the contrary I not only privately but publicly supported Senator La Follette in the campaign. Not only this but I was again as I have been constantly for more than 20 years, in charge of his campaign in Beloit. I was then president of the La Follette for President club of Beloit.'"

EVANS HANGS FOR SLAYING CHICAGO COP

Mother, Brother and Sweetheart Made Frantic Appeals to Small

Chicago—(P)—Richard Evans, 19-year-old youth convicted of the murder of a Chicago policeman, was hanged at the Cook-co jail at 7:11 Friday morning.

Before going to the gallows Evans confessed that he, and not a drunken companion as he had steadfastly maintained until six hours before his execution, shot and killed Patrolman Edward Finnegan last March after the officer arrested the two for speeding.

Despite the confession, relatives and attorneys made a frantic eleventh hour effort to stay the death, as it was stayed a week ago to permit review of the case by the state supreme court. It was the courts refusal to intervene that started the second journey to the death cell Thursday night.

APPEALS TO SMALL
The mother, brother and 17-year-old sweetheart of the youth continued efforts to reach Governor Len Small. Evans remained entirely composed during the final hours before the death march, but during the hour in the death cell to writing notes one to the mother who, with his father, mortgaged a home to obtain defense funds.

Throughout the trial the youth maintained that Otto Hacker, his companion who testified for the state, shot the policeman but during the trial of the family Thursday night Evans broke down and sobbed out a confession for the first time. Besides admitting killing Finnegan, he also told police that he and Hacker had committed ten robberies before the murder occurred.

CONVICTED AT THIRTEEN
The youth, who was described as having "the face of an angel and the heart of a fiend," first came to the attention of the police at the age of thirteen when he was convicted of petty larceny and sentenced to a reformatory. He had been paroled from Pontiac reformatory seven months before the officer was killed.

Sheriff Peter Hoffman asked if he had anything to say, he answered in a firm voice:

"I want to say that I will have paid my debt to God and society."

STONE TESTIFIES IN ILLINOIS GRAFT CASE

Chicago—(P)—Ralph W. Stone, indicted former prohibition director for Illinois, testified that he had paid $25,000 in graft for approval of permits for withdrawal of sacramental wine to Lowell B. Mason, "dry" state senator who is a candidate for reelection next Tuesday. Stone was called as the government's star witness in the trial of Mason and Senator Percy Owen, also a former Illinois prohibition director, for conspiracy to violate the prohibition law.

of water. When this percentage of oxygen is less than 2 per cent, animal matter in the water dies. Tests taken on the Fox river last summer, Mr. Baker said, showed that below Appleton and below Wrightstown the water tested zero, or no oxygen at all. "This is a critical condition and it must be remedied," he declared.

While some of the oxygen is taken by industrial waste, he explained, it is domestic sewage decomposed in the water that uses most of it. For this reason solving of the pollution problem lies as much in disposing of domestic sewage as of industrial waste. Cities are as much to blame for pollution as industries, Mr. Baker pointed out, because they have the answer to their problem, while the industries are spending huge sums of money to find a solution.

ARBITRARY POWER
Mr. Baker explained the duties of the state board of health and told the officials that the state board had full arbitrary power in all matters relating to health. He also told members that the board never went to law unless such steps were absolutely necessary. "We believe in cooperation," Mr. Baker said.

All municipalities interested were officially represented at the meeting by industrial waste, he explained, it is domestic sewage decomposed in the water that uses most of it. For this ing the present plan would be to have proper legislation passed by the legislature which would allow further progress. He told members that such a bill would come before the state legislature at the next meeting.

Mr. Baker also invited the local organization to draft a bill and submit it to the state board for examination. It is probable that such action will be taken.

He indicated that if the municipalities took favorable action on a program of disposal that the state board of health would grant a temporary permit to the village of Combined Locks to empty its sewage into the river until the disposal plant would be completed.

"Even if the initial cost of building the plant and the sewer line would be greater than building separate plants in each city, saving in operation expenses would soon repay the cities and villages interested," Mr. Baker declared.

Assured that legislation permitting the officials of a joint sewage disposal district can be procured, the officials then adopted a resolution asking each city interested to appoint the local engineer on a committee to make a preliminary survey to determine the feasibility of the plan. It is probable that a joint meeting of the city councils and village boards will be called at Appleton and the engineers will make their report at that time.

All the officials present expressed themselves in favor of the plan, providing the preliminary survey would prove it practicable. According to a map drawn by A. E. McMahon, engi-ner for several of the smaller villages, the sewer line would take advantage of the 131 foot fall in the Fox river between Neenah and Appleton. The sewer would follow the river's course.

Approximately 14 miles of sewer line would be required at an estimated cost of about $1,000,000. It was pointed out that the disposal plant cost is not included in this figure.

The Pride of Cleaner Kitchens and Better Foods—with Less Work

YOU can bake, roast, or broil the most tasty, delicious and wholesome foods in an electric oven. The even, unvarying heat, and the accurate automatic control of oven temperature and cooking time, without watching, assures perfect results—never burning nor undercooking. The natural juices of meats are retained, preventing loss of flavor and waste from shrinkage.

As the heat is from glowing coils and not from combustion, there is no soot, smoke, dirt, ashes, nor greasy vapor to burn on bottoms of pots and pans, and to make the whole kitchen dingy and discolored. Crisp white curtains and spotless walls, ceiling and table linen, distinguish the home with an electric range.

We shall be glad to demonstrate to you, the comfort, convenience and economy of electric cookery. Our large selection of ranges offers a style for your individual needs, at a price you can easily pay.

SEEK $150,000 FOR LOCAL POSTOFFICE FROM GOVERNMENT

Eleven Badger Cities Clamor
Loudly for New Postoffice
Buildings

BY BASCOM H. TIMMONS

Washington, D. C.—Two hundred American cities today beseeching the Treasury and Postoffice departments, Senators and Congressmen for new postoffice buildings.

The federal government has $155,000,000 to spend for a public buildings program in the next six years. But $50,000,000 of it is to be spent in the district of Columbia. Another $15,000,000 has already been allocated. Only $17,000,000 is to be spent yearly throughout the country and the demand for new federal buildings throughout the country cannot be appeased.

Madison and Tomah are the Wisconsin cities to be cared for first in the program. Drawings for the Madison federal building already have been made.

Eleven cities in Wisconsin are clamoring loudly for new postoffice buildings. These cities are Milwaukee west side, Appleton, Beloit, Janesville, Kenosha, Oshkosh, Manitowish, Racine, Sheboygan, Stevens Point and Wausau.

Most of these cities have doubled and tripled in population since the present structures were erected. Postmaster General McManister of the Treasury Mellon have estimated that $1,754,000 is needed to care for the ten cities outside of Milwaukee, which need buildings. This, of course, does not include Madison, which is on a program. The money Secretary Mellon and Postmaster General New would spend in Wisconsin would be divided as follows:

Appleton, additional land $50,000; remodeling $100,000.

Beloit, additional land $14,000; remodeling $135,000.

Janesville, extension and remodeling $125,000.

Kenosha, new site $125,000; new building $275,000.

Oshkosh, additional land or new site $50,000; new building or enlargements $300,000.

Manitowish, additional land $40,000; remodeling $115,000.

Racine, extension and remodeling $150,000.

Sheboygan, extension and remodeling $100,000.

Stevens Point, extension and remodeling $75,000.

Wausau, extension and remodeling $100,000.

But there is no certainty when any of these cities will get money for the needed buildings. If one or two of them are cared for each year for the next six years the acute situation can be cured up.

Wisconsin apparently was in advantageous position to have its public buildings needs cared for as Senator Lenroot was chairman of the Public Buildings committee of the Senate and also a member of the Appropriation committee. However, Senator Lenroot is leaving the Senate in March before the building program can get fairly under way.

WISCONSIN MAKES ITS APPEARANCE THIS WEEK

The first issue of the Wisconsin, the monthly publication of the Wisconsin junior high school, appeared this week. All work was done at the school, including the printing, which was directed by Armin Gerhardt, of the manual arts department.

Departments in the paper this year include, athletic notes, humor, local notes, alumni, and signed articles on school activities by the students. Miss Virginia Hoesgood is editor-in-chief, and Thomas Stip and John Elke are business managers. Others on the editorial staff are Miss Frances Brewer and Miss Ruth Harris, literary editors; Miss Lucille Joram, alumni editor; Miss Mary Coates, humor editor; and James Schroeder, athletics. Miss Frances Palmer, head of the English department, is editorial sponsor.

HUNTING LICENSES MAY REACH 3,300 FIGURE

Including those books which have been placed in the hands of notary publics throughout the county for disposal, 3,300 hunting licenses may be sold this year in Outagamie before the opening of the deer hunting season, it was reported Wednesday.

Several of the notaries have had no occasion as yet to report on sales but 132 books of 25 licenses each have either been sold or are held for sale in the county. The majority, it is believed, have already been used.

Application for hunting licenses also indicates that a large number of professional trappers will run their trap lines in this county this winter.

Applications filed from every section of the county, it was reported at the highway commission office. Many more are expected to be brought on the board floor, it was said.

PARENTS ASK HELP TO FIND MISSING SON

Every magazine and newspaper published in Wisconsin has been requested to aid Mr. and Mrs. John Brumer, Sr., 618 Fifth-ave Milwaukee, to find their son, John "Jack" Brumer, who disappeared on Sept. 5 and still is missing.

The boy had about $32 on his person when he disappeared. He was employed on a farm near Milwaukee and was taken to Milwaukee by his employer on Sept. 5 and was left at a corner to take a street car to his home. Nothing was seen of him after that time.

PLACE REFLECTORS ON TWO CITY BOULEVARDS

In an effort to stop motorists from driving on the boulevards on S. Cherry-st and N. State-st the street department has placed red reflectors at each end of the boulevards on those streets, according to R. F. Hackworthy, street commissioner. Driving on the freshly planted ground on the Cherry-st boulevard has gone beyond the nuisance point, according to Mr. Hackworthy. The street department has spent several months grading, leveling and planting these grounds, it was pointed out.

HIGHWAY COMMITTEE
INSPECTS ROAD WORK

Highway Commissioner A. G. Brusewitz and the Outagamie-so highway committee left the courthouse Thursday to inspect tentative road projects on which county aid has been solicited in petitions which will be presented for consideration of the county board of supervisors at the annual meeting in November. There are 11 such petitions.

SOCIETY

PASTOR PREACHES
FINAL SERMON TO NEENAH PARISH

Dr. and Mrs. Sommers
Leave Soon for New Field
in Denver, Col.

Neenah—The Rev. A. J. Sommers, who has resigned as pastor of St. Paul English Lutheran church to take a similar position at Trinity English Lutheran church in Denver, Colo., will preach his farewell sermon at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon. Reformation services will be held at 10:30 in the morning. Mr. Sommers was the first pastor of the congregation. He received a call from the Home Mission board of the General Council, to come to Neenah to take charge of the church in its infancy in May 1913. He accepted the call to become missionary and took charge of the field, July 1, 1913. The first services were held in the small Norwegian church on Bond street, since then down. Three months later the pastor endeavored to secure a better place for meetings. The work was begun with only 23 active members and 14 children. Today the Sunday school has the membership is 355 and the Sunday school has 345 with a grade roll of 54, making a total of 886. The present church was built and dedicated 10 years ago. Every department is well organized and the debt is paid.

Mr. Sommers has not only confined himself to the local work. He organized Trinity English Lutheran congregation in Appleton in 1914. Mrs. Sommers took the place of the pastor. She has been connected with the general mission work for several years and assisted her husband. The Rev. and Mrs. Sommers and children will leave in a few days for Denver, Col.

HEAR ACCUSED
WIFE SLAYER IS BURIED AT SEA

Neenah—Lewis J. Ring of Minneapolis, who was accused last spring of killing his wife, Miss Bertha Switzer formerly of Neenah, and throwing the body into Lake Pepin, Wis., may have been buried at sea recently, according to word received in Minneapolis. A passenger on an Austrian-American liner was believed by County Attorney Floyd B. Olson to answer the description of Ring.

The man was said to have killed himself and was not identified. A search was made in Canada, the east and the Pacific coast when Ring disappeared after his wife was killed.

GRIDDERS DRILLING
FOR SATURDAY GAME

High School Expects Stiff
Battle With New London
Squad

Neenah—High school football team held its last practice Friday afternoon before the game with New London high school team which will be played Saturday afternoon in New London. Several changes have been made in the Neenah lineup for this game which is expected to be one of the stiffest of the entire schedule. A large number of high school pupils will accompany the team. Next week the team will have the hardest practice of the season to fit it for the contest with Menasha high school team on Nov. 6 in Menasha.

Neenah football teams have defeated Menasha for the last seven years but this year the fans are somewhat skeptical as the Menasha team has shown up better than Neenah.

NEENAH SOCIETY

Neenah—Harry Williams entertained a party of men Wednesday evening at a duck dinner at his summer cottage on Lake Poygan. The evening was spent in cards.

Nurses of Theda Clark hospital will entertain at a Halloween party Saturday evening at St. Thomas guild hall. The hall has been decorated for the occasion. Dancing will provide entertainment.

A Halloween party will be given Friday evening at the Methodist church by the Epworth League. Games appropriate to the occasion will be played.

OVERCOMES YOUNG MAN
Neenah—Frederick Stecker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Stecker, Third-st., was overcome by gas Thursday evening. The young man had gone to the bathroom, heated by a gas burner which leaked and when he returned, his parents called to him but received no answer. The door was broken open and the young man was found unconscious in the bath tub. The room was filled with gas. He soon revived in the fresh air.

NAMED
Mrs. Oral E. Macdon, 530 W. 6th-st., won the $50 string of Bluebird pearl beads offered by the Kamps Jewelry store to the person picking the genuine pearl in a case of artificial pearls exhibited in their window. Second place was won by Miss Gwen Vanderworks, 222 N. Morrison-st. and third prize was won by Henry Schultheis of Dale, Wis. An unusual amount of interest was generated by the novel contest. Hundreds of people made their choice, and out of all those only six managed to pick the real pearl, near everyone choosing imitations as the real pearl, about the best imitation that could be said to be the beautiful Bluebird brand.

Hausen, Tessen-dorf and Inde will form the squad.

EAGLES MEET IN OSHKOSH
TO DISCUSS THEIR WORK

Neenah—Officers of Neenah Aerie of Eagles and as many members as possible will go to Oshkosh Sunday afternoon to attend a district conference which will be held at 2 o'clock at the Oshkosh Aerie hall. Projects of importance to the aeries of this district will be discussed such as the 1927 state program; tentative plans for state and grand aerie convention; old age pensions; new c.ub houses, decrease lapation, increased meeting attendance, increased membership, drill teams, bands, drum corps and marching clubs. Representatives of every aerie in this locality will be at the meeting.

HALLOWEEN PRANKS
MUST BE WITHIN LAW

Neenah—Arrests will follow any destruction of property Saturday evening, Charles Watts, chief of police, said Friday. A large force of extra police officers will be put on duty in all parts of the city to guard against rowdiness and injury to property. The young folks will be allowed to have a good time but must stay within the law at all times.

ATTEND FUNERAL
Neenah—Mrs. W. H. Nussbucker and daughter Mrs. David Price, have gone to Chicago to attend the funeral of Mrs. Eleanor Smith, 73, sister to Mrs. Nussbucker. Mrs. Smith before her marriage was Miss Eleanor Hart of Neenah. She was born in Town of Vinland, west of Neenah.

TWIN CITY
DEATHS

FRED HOLLENBACK
Neenah—Word was received in Neenah Thursday afternoon by Mrs. A. W. Hollenbeck, E. Doty-ave, of the sudden death Thursday morning in Rhineland of her son, Frederick Hollenback. Death was due to apoplexy. Frederick Hollenback was born in 1883 in Waupaca. He came to Neenah when a boy and resided here for six years. He had lived in Rhineland for the last five years. He is survived by his widow, two sisters, Mrs. Arthur Arneimann and Miss Linda Hollenback of Neenah, one brother, Kingsley Hollenback of New Holstein, and his mother. The funeral will be held Saturday afternoon in Rhineland. Burial will be made in that city. Neenah relatives left Friday morning for Rhineland to attend the funeral.

JACK KRYSIAK
Menasha—Jack George, Jr., 10 months, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Krysiak, 723 Racine-st., died Thursday. The funeral will be held at 8 o'clock Saturday morning at St. John church and will be in charge of the Rev. W. B. Polaczky.

Can Scarcely Believe The Great
Good Dreco Has Done Him

Well-known Appleton Citizen says he suffered so with stomach trouble and rheumatism he couldn't work for months at a time.

"For months at a time I suffered so with stomach trouble and rheumatism I just had to home here and let my men run my business," declared Mr. Gus Kranzsch, 1314 N. Oneida-St. this city, in a recent talk with the Dreco man at Schilntz Bros. Drug Store. Mr. Kranzsch is the owner of the Home Services Co. and a well-known member of the L. O. O. M. and the Swedish Society.

"I had a sour and heavy feeling in my stomach and for years have only been able to eat the lightest foods and even they distressed me. At times I felt like I wanted to throw up my whole insides and I would belch so loudly I could be heard all the way across the room. As a result I lost weight and became merely a skeleton of my self. I also suffered from constipation and rheumatism. Every joint and muscle in my body ached so badly I was practically a cripple. I became as cross as an old bear and didn't have a pleasant word for anyone."

"But Dreco has changed all this and now I have a fine appetite and can eat anything without suffering with my stomach. I have gained fifteen pounds in weight and eat and sleep like a new man. My bowels are regular and every ache and pain has left me. I can honestly recommend Dreco as the best remedy ever sold here for it helped me when everything else failed."

The old fashioned remedies made from roots and herbs, are the best for anyone to take. Dreco is made from twelve different roots, herbs, barks and leaves. These act on the stomach, bowels and kidneys and purify the blood. Dreco knocks rheumatism out shortly, relieves catarrh of the head and stomach, makes you sleep soundly and creates a good appetite. As a blood purifier nothing can equal Dreco. It puts a stop to boils, eczema and other blood affections.

Mr. Marr Baker, the well-known Expert from the Dreco Laboratories now at Schilntz Bros. Downtown Drug Store, is telling scores of people every day how to take Dreco for best results. Go to see him.

McKINLEY SCHOOL HOLDS HALLOWEEN PARTY IN "GYM"

Special "Stunts" by Each Room Gives Diversified Program

A Halloween party planned by students of McKinley junior high school was given for the students and faculty from 7 to 9 o'clock Wednesday evening in the school gymnasium. Stunts, games and refreshments were mostly in honor of the "ghost" season, and Miss Hyacinth Fredericks, a student in the eighth grade, took the part of a witch and created atmosphere for the party at various times during the evening. Ninety-five persons attended.

The program opened with a grand march, led by Miss Lona Draheim and Melville Wright, faculty members. Ghost stories were told by Miss Harriet Drexler, Miss Betty Rether, and Leonard Burkans. Miss Drexler and Miss Cole presented a brief skit and a solo was sung by Miss Virginia Knuthe.

Each home room in the school was represented by a stunt given by members of the group, and the entire grade class performed in a Wildcat band directed by Edward Jansen. Two stunts, The Old Fashioned School and The Human Ford, were presented by seventh grade students. The cast for the respective acts included Miss Helen Monson, Miss Edna Hove, Joseph Gashler, Edwin Harold, Rocklin Gmeiner and Miss Carrie Babcock; and Miss Olive Horn, Miss Ruth Totzko, Miss Ethel Anholzen, Miss Monson, Mr. Harold, Mr. Gmeiner, Walter Dumke, Fred Last and Mr. Gashler.

A faculty impersonation was arranged by the ninth grade students. Characters in the stunt were Miss Alma Dumke as Miss Mary Rogers; Miss Lily Rethke as Miss Reta Verhulst; Miss Doris Koehnke and Edward Burr as Miss Lona Draheim, and company; Norbert De Young, Miss Anna Kugler and Lyle Wydat-ske as Mr. and Mrs. Dale Schuppner; and Baby Schuppner; Arthur Borsche as Frank Younger; Argo Childs as Melville Wright; and Delmont Bradford as Walter Fox.

Fortune tellers at the party were Miss Cole and Miss Irma Kiser. The faculty committee in charge of the affair were Miss Draheim, refreshments; Mr. Fox, decorations; and Mr. Wright, program and games.

LEGION CAMPAIGNERS HOLD ANOTHER MEETING

The first complete checkup of members of Oney Johnston post of the American Legion who are engaged in a three-week membership drive will be made at a dinner at 6 o'clock Friday evening at the Conway hotel, to which all team captain and members have been invited. About 85 Legionnaires are expected to be present. The drive closes on Armistice day with a joint membership jubilee and Armistice day program.

The first report was made Tuesday evening at a meeting at Elk hall and it showed that 211 members had been secured within a week after the drive started. The reports were not complete, however, as some of the team captains were working on the drive that night and could not attend the meeting. The goal is 600 members, over 200 more than last year.

DISMISS ROBBERY CASE IN MUNICIPAL COURT

On motion of their attorney, F. J. Rooney, a case pending against Earl Stutzman and Louis Carstensen, charged in municipal court with robbery with a weapon, was dismissed on grounds of insufficient evidence when the matter was taken before Judge Fred V. Heinemann, sitting for Judge Theodore Berg, late Thursday afternoon.

According to the complaint, the young men, one of the son of a woman owning a farm in town of Black Creek, and the other an employee on the farm, held up Mike Meyer, proprietor of a soft drink saloon at the point of a rifle and departed with a slot machine. The men entered pleas of not guilty when arraigned several days ago and were released on bonds.

Pimples On Face Neck and Shoulders Cuticura Healed

"My face began to break out with small, itchy pimples in great numbers. They were hard and red and festered and scaled over. The pimples spread to my face, neck and shoulders and itched and burned something awful so that I could hardly sleep at night. My clothing irritated the breaking out on my shoulders, and my face was disfigured. I had the trouble about two years."

"I was told about Cuticura Soap and Ointment and sent for a free sample. After using it I got relief so purchased more and in about two months I was completely healed." (Signed) Winifred Chambers, R. 4, Box 191, Bedford, Ind.

Predict U. S. Will Lead World In Flying In 1928

BY CHARLES P. STEWART
Washington—The end of the year 1927 will see the United States leading the world in aviation.

William P. MacCracken, assistant secretary of commerce, in charge of aeronautics, says so. F. Trubee Davison, assistant secretary of war, in charge of aeronautics, corroborates MacCracken. Edward Pearson Warner, assistant secretary of the navy, in charge of aeronautics, corroborates both MacCracken and Davison.

That makes it unanimous. Incidentally, according to Warren Irving Glover, assistant postmaster general, in charge of aeronautics, more mail already travels by air routes in the United States than in any other country.

Commercial aviation is at a disadvantage in America, as compared with Europe, because there it is subsidized by the governments, while here public sentiment will not permit it. Only two American flying concerns are making money, MacCracken reports, while the others, at best, are only breaking even, and some are losing.

MacCracken's problem is to encourage more Americans to travel and ship by air.

Rates inevitably will be higher here than abroad, because of the foreign companies' subsidies. That, however, does not matter so much, since Americans, having more money, can afford to pay more, and seem inclined to have what they want no matter what it costs.

MacCracken's theory is that the essential thing is to make flying safe and certain.

Most aviation accidents occur, MacCracken points out, as landings are being effected. Planes take off without difficulty and are all right in the air, but landing is ticklish business.

This is especially true at night and MacCracken considers night flying, if anything, more important than day flying, just as a busy man prefers to take a night train, in order not to break in on his working hours, and likes to have emergency shipments of goods, currency or papers leave his office at night, that it may be in somebody else's hands in the morning.

As a matter of fact, America does, at present, lead the world in night flying, doubtless for the reasons given. European commercial aviation is, indeed, ahead of America's but not her commercial night aviation.

With the establishment of a great system of model landing fields and of beacons, to guide aviators on their way and to facilitate descents, MacCracken is certain night flying will take such a spurt as the nation does not even dream of.

By the end of 1927 he promises that such a system will be established.

Davison and Warner are as much interested in commercial aviation as MacCracken. The more civilian flyers there are, the more the army and navy will have to call on in an emergency.

MacCracken, Davison and Warner are practical aviators. As such, they are war products.

OFFER $25 REWARD FOR FINDER OF SUITCASE

A club type Russell suitcase containing valuable papers and a .32 calibre automatic revolver, is worth $25 to the finder if he seeks a reward, it was reported at police headquarters Friday.

H. C. Crockett, a representative of the Petoskey Silver Fox Farm Co., Petoskey, Mich., lost such a bag from his automobile somewhere on either state trunk highway 114 or 118 near Appleton Friday night, it was reported.

The papers, it was pointed out, are of value only to their owner.

ANNUAL CONVENTION OF CLERKS ADJOURNS

What was universally declared the most important annual convention of town, city and village clerks of the county held so far in Appleton adjourned late Thursday afternoon after an executive session at the courthouse and a banquet which lasted from shortly after 3 o'clock at Hotel Appleton. Although the business of the convention was largely routine, such gatherings are considered of inestimable value to the clerks, it was pointed out.

They still do most of their traveling by plane. If anything happens to the pilot, not one but can take charge himself and do his work competently.

They are also very young men for their responsible positions. Davison 30, Warner 32, MacCracken 37. Assistant Postmaster General Glover is 47.

ARRAIGN ALLEGED DRY VIOLATORS IN COURT

Three men, alleged to have violated the liquor laws, were to be arraigned before Judge Theodore Berg in municipal court Friday for preliminary hearing if the state's witnesses could be assembled, it was reported by District Attorney John A. Lonsdorf.

Two of the defendants pleaded not guilty when arraigned recently to charges of possession of illicit liquor while the third, a bartender, faces a complaint alleging that he attempted to destroy liquid evidence when state prohibition enforcement officers raided the saloon of his employer on N. Richmond-st.

Al Geisen, Stephentown, Ferdinand Reitzner, N. Richmond-st., and his bartender, Andrew Pikel, are the defendants. Each raid resulted in the seizure of a small quantity of alleged intoxicants, state men declared.

Musician Out of Tune

"Gas pressure in my stomach sometimes distressed me so that I could not think. I played out of tune and twice lost my position. No medicine helped me and I became disheartened. Another musician advised me to try MAYER'S, and I am now enjoying the best of health." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. All druggists. adv.

MR. BLAINE'S RECORD
Mr. Blaine says he is proud of his record as governor of Wisconsin. He makes this statement on the assumption that the credulity of the people of Wisconsin has no limits. He makes it with the easy confidence of a politician with blind followers who never question his acts or his statements. It is a bold bluff to paint himself so largely and so beautifully in the election picture that his competitors will not be seen.

Mr. Blaine has no record as governor of Wisconsin, except what will not bear dissection by any intelligent or unprejudiced citizen. The political machine he and his henchmen have built up at Madison is not only a burden to the taxpayers, but it is a load upon the integrity and efficiency of government everywhere in this state. It engages in the cheapest practices of demagoguery and in vicious appeals to class distrust. It uses government for its personal ambition and does not serve the people in any true sense.

Mr. Blaine takes credit for the development of improved highways during his administration. This work has gone forward in spite of him rather than with his cooperation. Much of the time he has been at odds with the Highway commission and attacked it, the while it was building and fostering a great road system.

He has done little to promote genuine conservation.

He has brought about a system of taxation which is notoriously unfair to every local taxing unit in the state, and that has increased the burdens of taxation to every person, poor and well-to-do. Instead of removing property taxes he has added to them by appropriating to the state revenues that belong to the cities and counties, thereby compelling them to tax property more heavily.

He has made the state university a political football by creating a political and to a large extent fanatical board of regents.

He has undermined law enforcement by his pardons, and public security by assailing those agencies set up to guarantee it.

His policies have advertised Wisconsin as a state where the manufacturing industry does not get a square deal.

Legislative sittings during his administration have been involved in scandal. He has appointed members of the legislature to public office to build up his machine, and has otherwise abused the appointive power.

His campaign for the senatorship in the primary was one in many respects of deliberate misrepresentation and moral obliquity.

He has been on both sides of many of the most important questions of the time.

He first vetoed the gasoline tax and then favored it evidently for the same reasons. He first supported world court for political reasons and then denounced it for the same reasons. He did not let his platform convention endorse the St. Lawrence seaway, and then tells the people he is for it.

He paints the manufacturing industry of Wisconsin in glowing colors for political purposes, and denounces its owners as tax-dodgers. He talks of the great prosperity of Wisconsin's dairy industry and in the next breath tells the farmers their poverty is due to exploitation, all of which is demagoguery pure and simple.

He is opposed to the administration of President Coolidge and denounces the great economies it has effected and its reduction of federal taxation as shams. He is opposed to the administration's foreign policies and the cooperation it has extended to Europe to help Europe to its feet, that it may pay the United States its war obligations and return to peaceful pursuits.

He offers neither constructive policies nor constructive criticisms. He finds nothing good to commend in any person or party of his narrow creed. His utterances and his attitude on public questions are for the most part destructive.

Blaine's election as senator will be nothing less than a public misfortune to Wisconsin.

THE TARIFF BOGEY
When the Republican party is put on the defensive it immediately charges the line of its critics with the tariff dummy. It makes no difference how bad the case is against it, or even against the tariff itself, it cries out that ultra-protection has given the United States all its prosperity from the beginning of things. Occasionally it slips and suffers reverses, even when supported by the tariff bogey, but in the main the people have fallen for it and probably will continue to do so.

The manifesto "issued by the international bankers appealing for greater trade reciprocity and a removal of economic barriers has been commonly interpreted to apply only to Europe. Nevertheless, the administration so greatly fears a wider construction that it has caused Secretary Mellon to compose a fresh essay on the beauties of the Republican tariff. Mr. Mellon even tells the people that the aluminum trust, in which he has a "generous hand, will build no more factories in the United States if the tariff on its products is lowered. The secretary of the treasury is a greater financier and he has saved the taxpayers hundreds of millions of dollars in his administration of its fiscal affairs, but he never loses an opportunity to look after his own interests and to uphold a policy of government that has been perverted to the enrichment of great corporations at the expense of the consumer. The Fordney-McCumber law carries almost the highest duties of any tariff we have ever had. That many of the schedules are excessive to the point where they confer no benefit on labor but merely serve to exploit the consumer, there is no question. Protection is a sound American policy, but our industry can thrive on a lowered tariff, not only with greater ultimate benefit to itself, but to the immediate relief of the consumer.

It is not a question of whether we must lower our tariff wall to permit Europe to pay her debts by expanding her foreign trade, it is a question primarily of sound national economy and of justice to the consumer. Farmers of the Northeast and West have voted the Republican ticket all their lives, and they have paid a tremendous aggregate tax on things they purchase without corresponding benefits in the things they sell, except the vague theory that high tariff charges increase the general consumption of their products. That the farmer has been bunched by the tariff is quite apparent, for the prices he receives for what he grows and raises are seldom on a parity with the prices he pays. The tariff has not raised his income or his margin of profit, in the proportion it has raised his cost of living and his expenditures.

President McKinley was a tariff fundamentalist, brought up in the steel district of northeastern Ohio. The McKinley tariff has been described as one of the sacred monuments of protection, yet Mr. McKinley before his death came to see that the policy of commercial exclusion was not nationally healthy. In his last public utterance at the Panama-American exposition at Buffalo twenty-five years ago, President McKinley expressed a policy, significantly in accord with the declaration of the international bankers. He said:

"Our capacity to produce has developed so enormously and our products have so multiplied that the problem of more markets requires urgent and immediate attention. A system which provides a mutual exchange of commodities is essential to the continued and healthful growth of our export trade. Reciprocity is the natural outgrowth of our wonderful industrial development. The period of exclusiveness is past. The expansion of our trade and commerce is the pressing problem. Reciprocity treaties are in harmony with the spirit of the times. Commercial wars are unprofitable. If, perchance, some of our tariffs are no longer needed, why should they not be employed to extend and promote our markets?"

We realize that the contentions advanced in this editorial are not orthodox. We are having another cycle of ultra-protection. But it is only a matter of time until the enormous industrial subsidies authorized by the government will be more carefully analyzed and scrutinized, to the end that the beneficiaries of this system may not unduly profit by it, and that our foreign trade may be wholesomely developed.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
Anxiety Neurosis
Please explain why that wretched feeling and headache appear simultaneously with inactivity of the bowels. Also will you advise me as to the treatment and cure of pyorrhea. (V. M.)
Answer.—Fretting and stewing over the retardation of the evacuation explains the wretched feeling and headache. Worry often induces such symptoms, especially in a neurotic or introspective individual. Pyorrhea calls for individual treatment by the dentist and physician in co-operation. I know of no general method which is suitable for all cases.

Fruits for Rheumatic Folk
In a reply to a correspondent who asked whether cherries, pineapple or strawberries are bad for uric acid you merely mentioned some foods which should be avoided and said "you may safely eat everything else." Do you mean that these fruits are all right? My wife has neuritis and I am troubled with rheumatism, hence our interest. (F. W. H.)
Answer.—There is no reason to imagine that uric acid has anything to do with either trouble. None of the fruits contain enough uric acid forming material to make it unsuitable for the diet of one with neuritis, arthritis or even gout—if there is such a disease.

400 YEARS OF HIGH BLOOD PRESSURE
About sixteen months ago Dr. Ralph H. Major of Kansas City, reporting upon the effects of hypodermic injections of liver extract in reducing high blood pressure, said: "Conclusions as to the therapeutic value of such a preparation can be drawn only after a study of a large number of patients over a long period of time." At the same time Dr. Major gave his experience with the use of the treatment in 42 cases, the patients ranging from 4 to 72 years and averaging 52 years of age, 32 women, 10 men, and most of them had been under ordinary treatment for over two years with no marked change of blood pressure. They received one or two injections a day or two or three a week, or some of them only one injection a week. Within an hour after the injection there was a uniform fall of from 20 to 50 millimeters of mercury in the blood pressure. In some cases a fall of 60 or 70 millimeters. The fall is gradual, and rarely accompanied with any discomfort, though one or two patients experienced slight dizziness; it persists for from 21 hours to several days, in some cases for a whole week after an injection.

With the liver treatment has been pretty widely tested in practice since then, and I have the general impression, from various reports that have been made, that it is just as efficacious as a meal of fried liver and bacon with French fried potatoes.

A good many other tissue substances or extracts, when administered by injection, or when fed as meat, tend to reduce high blood pressure.

That isn't of much importance. Mere high blood pressure in itself is rarely harmful. In some instances it is really unwise to reduce it. The important thing is to find out what ails the patient whose blood pressure is above the normal or usual bounds, and then to treat the patient wisely and without much regard for the exact altitude of the blood pressure. It would be folly to use liver extract or any other remedy to lower blood pressure with regard for what ails the patient.

High blood pressure is not a dangerous thing in itself. I repeat that for the sake of emphasis. As often as not it is rather a compensatory and beneficial condition which makes up for some impairment, say, of heart muscle efficiency or vasomotor elasticity.

Dr. James E. Paulin of Atlanta has recorded the ultimate results of high blood pressure, 400 years of it, in 76 men and women observed for from five to 17 years. He found that high blood pressure in women about middle age is particularly benign—I am glad to inform Mrs. Sumsey. Dr. Paulin is unfortunately a youngish man and therefore cannot be expected to have much wisdom, but anyway he concludes from the study of four centuries of high blood pressure that no definite prognostications can be made from the mere occurrence of the high blood pressure, for in order to prognose in any such case the physician must know the condition of the heart and other organs. You see, it is just as I said—high blood pressure in itself doesn't mean much.

Not that I would recommend high blood pressure to everybody who wants to keep well. Insurance companies reject applicants who have high blood pressure, also applicants who have albuminuria, but I have never known a sane person to be good for albuminuria.

SCIENTIST'S TEN COMMANDMENTS
The ingenious idea occurred to Albert Edward Wiggam a few years ago to write a new Decalogue. He is a trained scientist, deeply versed in biology, and he hit on the idea of writing the ten commandments of science. He was under the impression that when the well known ten commandments of the Bible were issued they were addressed to a people who from the nature of things would not have been ready to receive commandments based on a knowledge of modern science but that now the time has come to make such extensions as science has made possible.

An outstanding fact about the book that grew out of this idea, "The New Decalogue of Science," published three years ago, is that it is not written in a destructively irreverent spirit. He does not at any time suggest that the ten commandments of the world have known for some thousands of years are outworn or that they are without force today. He implies that they are fundamental today as they were long ago but he suggests that additional commandments have been made necessary by discoveries of science.

In the old days, for instance, the emphasis was on honoring fathers and mothers. Wiggam does not in the least suggest abatement of this. He holds that science of eugenics makes it necessary to address a new commandment to fathers and mothers to honor their children and their children's children. In other words, to help along the evolutionary process by doing their part to make the generations of the future better. There is nothing irreverent in this.

The new ten commandments of science that Wiggam sets down are: 1. The Duty of Eugenics; 2. The Duty of Scientific Research; 3. The Duty of the Duty of Measuring Men; 4. The Duty of Humanizing Industry; 5. The Duty of Preferential Reproduction; 6. The Duty of Trusting Intelligence; 7. The Duty of Art; 8. The Duty of Internationalism; 9. The Duty of Philosophical Reconstruction.

While the book is stimulating, interesting, and very much worth reading, the first question that occurred to me was: Why did Wiggam confine himself to exactly ten commandments of science? Why not twelve or fifteen or seven? Does he mean to intimate that the ten he has suggested are all-inclusive? Are they the fundamentals under which every other law for the scientific age can be grouped?

If that was his meaning, there is plenty of chance to find fault. I am fairly certain that I myself could suggest two or three new commandments of science that are just as fundamental as those included in Wiggam's decalogue, and perhaps almost any other reader could do the same thing.

But for that matter, were the original ten commandments all-inclusive? I doubt it very much, even though it is usually assumed by theologians that they were. It is certain that the time came a few thousand years after they were originally issued when at least two amendments were considered necessary, and in actual practice there have been many amendments.

My guess is that Wiggam issued ten commandments of science merely because there were ten commandments in the Bible. It was something with which to attract attention. Not that that is not legitimate. There is no harm in taking advantage of such a circumstance. The point is that the particular commandments of science given in the book need not be looked upon as sacred scientific facts. They are in the main merely an exposition of the ideas of one particular scientific writer under ten convenient heads, and it is not out of place to disagree with any of them.

He is on the whole convincing and he is always stimulating. He addresses his books to the statesman and he impresses on him, and through him on everybody, the duty of living in accordance with the facts science has uncovered. This duty, he holds, is inescapable if civilization is not to commit suicide. He believes civilization is right now in the act of doing so, and he believes that only the application of scientific truth to life can arrest the process.

See-Sawing On Broadway
By Gilbert Swan

New York—Bonfires again begin to illumine the dark streets of the East Side at nightfall.

Chill winds come in from the Hudson, and it's cheaper to keep warm in the street than in the house. "As the pushcarts bring an end to their day's trade they move away, one by one, leaving the empty crates in which came their wares. Tots, scarce able to toddle, have learned to watch such spare wood as cats watch a garbage can.

Glimpses along any East Side street once darkness has settled and you will see at least one such neighborhood fire to a block. Whole families gather about them. They are, for the most part, strangely quiet. Only the children prank about. The older stand staring with hypnotized eyes upon the flames, saying nothing. Tired, as though finding some restful message in the crackling wood.

Here and there the pushcart men are burning their own kindling and their families are gathered about. There is little or no home life in the ghetto. This is a place of streets. Only the limp washing, hanging from the fire escapes, suggests life within.

Winter is near, and it is preceded by this brooding ominousness. When snow flies the fires will burn by day and by night. But the pushcarts will be there, blizzard or no. Barter goes on, in spite of weather.

In many an odd corner New York hides those eminently romantic business enterprises—the old bookshops. A casual glance is always an invitation. There is the ever-present atmosphere of mystery.

Elsewhere the diamond shops display their grandest wares in their windows; the shops show the new styles and the costly coats—but in these one must prowl and inquire to find the gems.

Yet exchanges involving fortunes are made by those who trade in first editions and Americana. Just around the corner from the office in which these lines are penned is a funny little place where a hundred dollars is a mere down payment. Yet, from the exterior, one would expect to find the floor cluttered with two-bit bargain tables.

Recently in such an old book trade a Gutenberg Bible brought more than a quarter of a million dollars. "And," quoth recently, "Dr. Otto Vollbehr, the German collector who made the purchase, brought to America 2,000 of his collection" of 15,000 rare books. He became interested in collecting many years ago when, upon a trip around the world, he found himself in San Francisco and saw the famous Sutter collection.

Not long afterward, he was in a train wreck and was left in such a highly nervous state that physicians ordered him to take up some hobby to occupy his mind. He turned to old books, and trades in sums that sound like bank clearings.

Each winter finds him in California negotiating with the Huntington library, valued at millions.

Q. May ordinary sawdust be compressed into forms so as to make toys? C. F. H.
A. Ordinary sawdust is seldom compressed into forms and shapes in making toys, ornaments, etc. It is, however, often made into briquettes for fuel. These have a very limited market, however, and can only be profitably made on a large scale, and where markets are particularly favorable. Sawdust, sifted or ground or otherwise treated is used to a limited extent in the manufacture of moulded products. The variety of such products is quite large, including advertising novelties, wall boards, wood tile, small boxes, etc.

Q. Can you tell me the ages of heavyweight champions from Corbett to Dempsey—that is age when championship was won and when lost? H. P.

Why we like Eagle Shirts
Men like Eagle Shirts for certain reasons, women for others. We like them for all the following:
The Patterns are smart, original, exclusive in good taste—the work of their own master designers.
The fabrics are unique, varied, long-wearing, different, novel—woven on their private looms for only their make.
The cloths are individually named, labeled—a great help in buying shirts.
The Shirts are cut snug where they should look well, free where they should feel well and long where they should stay well.
The center plait finished to the end of shirt has six buttons—not four or five.
The colors are fast, the stitching is to 18 to the inch—stitch tied.
We feature Eagle Shirts because there are so many things about them you'll like.

SIX CONGRESSMEN SEEK PROMOTIONS TO SENATE SEATS

Vare Only Republican Member of House to Obtain Senatorial Nomination

Washington — Boosts out of the house and into the senate by way of the ballot box are sought by six representatives in next Tuesday's election. Two others had hoped to travel along what the capitol guides tell visitors is the longest corridor in any public building in the world, but their aspirations were denied by the voters of their parties in the primaries.

Congressman William S. Vare is the only Republican member of the house to obtain a senatorial nomination, having won out over Senator Pepper in Pennsylvania's celebrated $2,000,000 primary. A former cabinet officer, W. B. Wilson, Democrat, is his opponent.

FIGHT OF PARTIES

In Kentucky Alben W. Barkley, Democrat, seeks to unhorse Senator Ernst, Republican; Millard E. Tydings, Democrat, would occupy the seat now held by Senator Veller, Republican, Maryland, and Harry B. Hawes would replace Senator Williams, Republican, as senator from Missouri.

In Arizona, Representative Carl Hayden is making the race against Senator Cameron, Republican, while Elmer Thomas, Democrat, aspires to occupy the Senate seat now held by Senator Harrell, Republican, Oklahoma.

John Philip Hill of Maryland and Walter F. Lineberger, of California, were the house members defeated for senatorial nominations in Republican primaries.

Ghosts And Pumpkin Faces To Appear Saturday Night

Ghosts, soap pictures and pumpkin faces will make their formal annual appearance in Appleton Saturday night.

Housewives who have wanted storm windows in the cold fall weather of 1926 have waited patiently until after the amateur decoration season of Halloween has passed. Carpenters on Saturday will be careful to carry home their tools and put work benches in secluded spots, and the late

"darker" will walk carefully to be sure that a wily string is not stretched across his path.

Under the old proverb "A stitch in time saves nine," organizations and parents have planned indoor parties for Friday and Saturday. The boy bobbing for apples in the family wash tub is a much safer proposition on Halloween fun when he takes his tick-tack and his wits on the historical expedition through the neighborhood.

Since the passing of the horse and buggy and the picket fence, two of the favorite outlets of Halloween fun have been deprived the young American, but there are still the porch steps, the step-ladder and the seated swing, which are inviting things to donate to another household who live far away.

WETS, DRY WITHOUT CHAMPIONS IN RACE

Both Upshaw, Georgia, and Hill, Maryland, Defeated in Primaries

Washington —(P)— Both the dries and wets go into Tuesday's election without their outstanding champions in the running as candidates for re-election.

Representative William D. Upshaw of Georgia, one of those who received "honorariums" from dry organizations for speeches, lost out in the Georgia Democratic primary to Lester J. Steele, another dry.

John Philip Hill, of Maryland, chose to try for a place in the senate only to be defeated in the Republican primary by Senator Veller.

Both Upshaw and Hill have three more months to serve in congress and can be expected to renew in December their forensic battles over prohibition on the house floor.

Prepare For Party Preparations for the Halloween party to be given Saturday evening at Gil Myse hall were made at the weekly meeting of the Appleton Maennerchor Thursday evening. After the meeting the decoration committee spent several hours decorating the hall for the party.

ONE SWALLOW ENDS SORE THROAT

New Prescription Stops Sore Throat in 15 Minutes—or No Cost

Just one swallow of Thoxine, the wonderful new prescription for sore throat often ends all pain and soreness in 15 minutes. Unlike gargles, Thoxine goes direct to the internal cause and corrects it, so that pain goes almost like magic. Perfectly harmless, no bad after-effects. No chloroform or other harmful drugs. LA FOLLETTE THROWS HIS WEIGHT TO BLAINE

Madison —(P)— Charging that "reactionaries are attempting to accomplish the election of Charles D. Rosa" independent candidate for the United States senate through methods of deceit and misrepresentation" Senator Robert M. LaFollette, Jr., Friday appealed to "progressive men and women of Wisconsin to go to the polls and vote Tuesday."

"Again, the progressive group in congress which in the past has accomplished so much in the public interest, will hold a position of power and have larger opportunity to uphold and to guard the interests of the great authority of the people against monopoly control of the few."

"The defeat of Senator Lenroot and the nomination of Governor Blaine in the September primary was recognized throughout the country as a signal victory for the progressives.

Every vote cast for Governor Blaine will aid in strengthening the progressives in their fight to wrest control of government from the great monopolies."

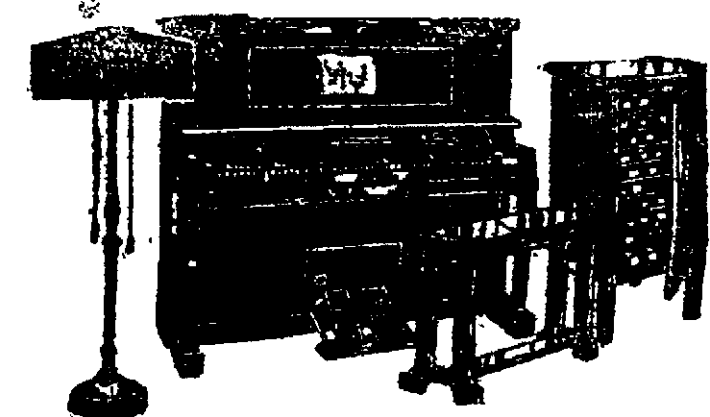

Otto Witzke of Green Bay, has moved to Appleton. He will operate the Hotel Northern Barber shop here. Through tickets good on all European air lines are to be issued.

Do the Old Fashioned songs still thrill you?

"Home, Sweet Home. 'Be it ever so humble, there's no place like home'"

THEY are very rich. Those memory-laden songs of long ago—the songs your mother sang for you. Mother—are you giving your children—your family—all the happiness that this great big world has to offer? Not if music is absent from your home. Without music, you may never know those tender moments—when the hearts of mothers and daughters draw close, and sons discover that fathers are pals.

BRAMBACH BABY GRAND

To The People of Appleton

Q Never before have I written an Open Letter to the people of this district—but I do want now to tell you about the beautiful new Brambach Baby Grand pianos that have just arrived from the big, new factory in New York City.

Q So delighted am I with these superb instruments that I am sending you this personal message—urging you to see these pianos in our showrooms.

Q 15 years ago Mark P. Campbell, President of the Brambach Piano Company, said to me, when he introduced his now famous Style "B" to the country—"I will make a fine Baby Grand piano for the smaller homes of America, or I will devote my energies to other lines—because a concern cannot prosper without producing instruments of real merit."

Q This high purpose has been amply rewarded for today the Brambach Piano Company enjoys a position as leading small Grand manufacturer of the world. These new Fall Brambach Grand pianos today—they are beautiful—responsive—enduring; at our store today—you want a Brambach, because it is the best.

Cordially yours,

Irving Zuelke

If You Want To Learn To Dance The Black Bottom Try These Steps

The Latest Ballroom Creation Complete In Two Installments

NOW comes the 'Black Bottom,' the new dance that threatens to shove the Vaudeville into the discard.

First introduced as a stage dance, the "Black Bottom" has caught hold all over the country in modified form.

Everyone who conquered the Charleston now wants to learn the "Black Bottom." To aid them, Senia Gluck and Felicia Sorel have devised steps suitable to the ballroom, and they are presented here, with Senia and Felicia doing the posing.

NEW IDEA USED

These two experts, now with Paul Ash, the "raja of jazz" in Chicago, are exceptionally competent in interpreting a new dance creation.

Miss Sorel utilizes a new idea in offering her ballroom version of the "Black Bottom." She expresses in skeleton figures the rhythm and motions.

She plots new steps, and clearly illustrates just how they are done. Study her sketches, accompanying these photographs, and you will get a far better idea of just how to do the steps than any diagram can give.

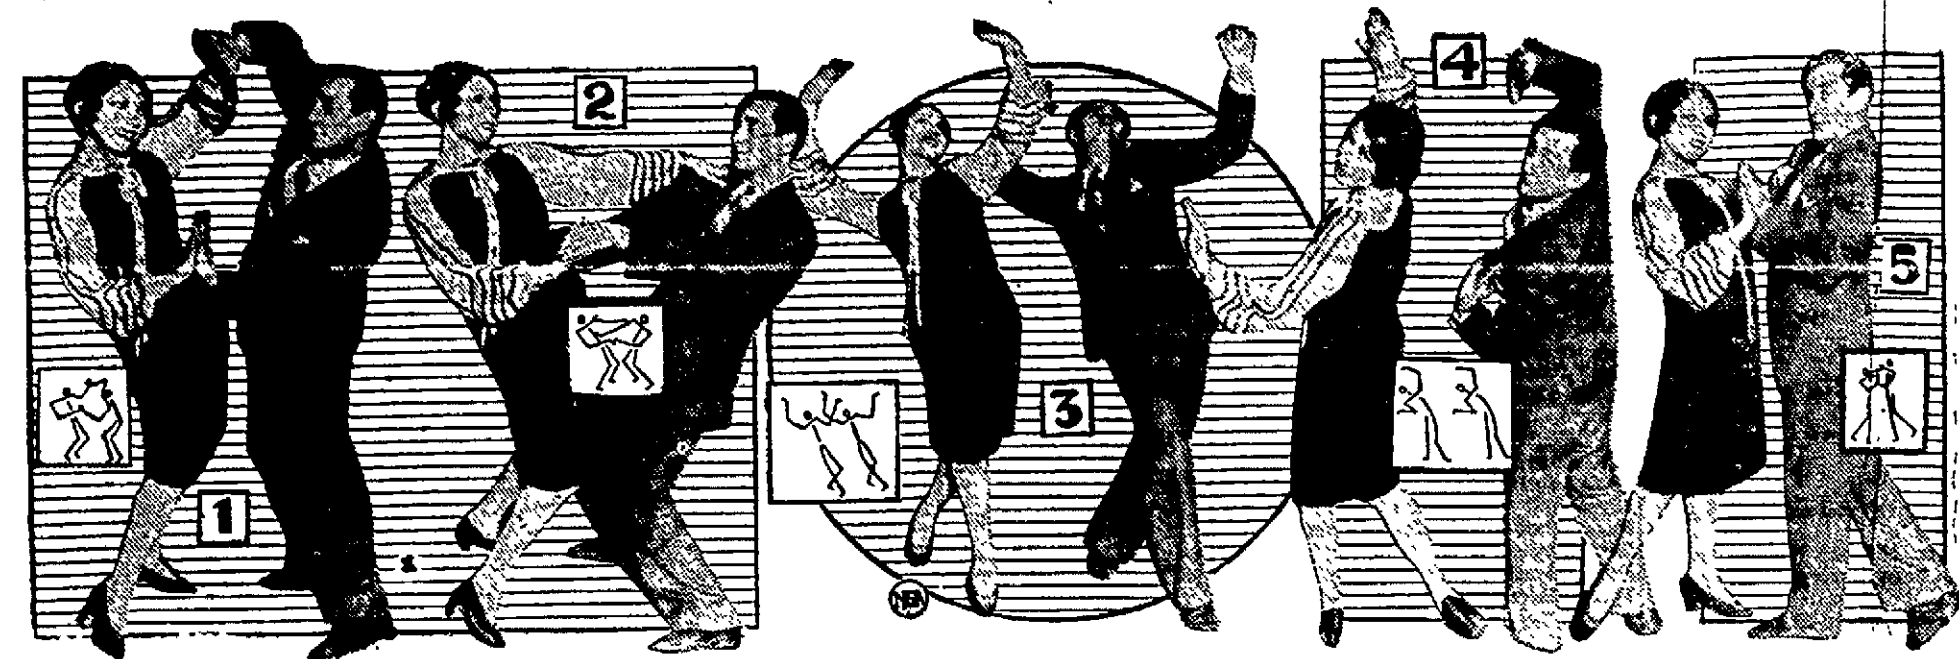

THE NAME

The name of this dance is taken from the antics of southern dandies frolicking in the black, muddy "bottoms" of the Swannee river.

The steps are to give a rhythmic impression of trying to dance in the sticky mud, with the lazy waters of the river further impeding progress.

The "Black Bottom" time is four-four but differs from the Fox Trot and Charleston in that the accent is on the after, or half-beat. Read the instruction which correspond with the numbered illustrations, tune in, and go!

The first five steps are illustrated today. The lesson will be completed in tomorrow's paper.

- 1—Remember about the mud! Take the usual fox-trot position. But hands are palm-to-palm. (This is written for the male partner.) Take a sort of retarded foot to the right, as if pulling the foot out of mud. As right foot touches the ground, left leg and foot are lifted about six inches and rather slowly follow and then are placed near the right foot. Repeat this hop-step to left, then forward and then backward.
- 2—Then, as in fox-trot, couple turn in place once, taking eight steps. Instead of sliding foot, lift each foot to the side, knees bending inward on each step. This brings the foot to the floor resting on the inner side of foot. You will notice this reverses the Charleston in several ways—loosened out, for instance.
- 3—Slide into this position from the previous one. Dancers separate, standing along side each other and facing in same direction. This posture is to indicate happiness upon reaching solid ground for a moment. Both dancers do the same step with same foot. Right foot crossed over left. At same time raise arms torso bent slightly to right head back.
- 4—Now turn quickly to the left on the ball of the foot; arms still raised; elbows bent; torso to the left; head turned to look over shoulder at floor. To complete the turn and bring the dancers together again, each lifts right foot, knees bent inward, weight of body on inner edge of both feet. Turn to right with four steps until partners face each other again. This step similar to No. 2.
- 5—Partners now together, palm-to-palm. Both start off with right foot. Foot describes a partial circle, starting in front and finishing directly in back of left foot. As right foot comes to place behind left, heel of left foot is lifted and left knee bent.

Her Own Way

A STORY OF A GIRL OF TODAY

JOHN'S CHANCE

I was having all I could do to keep my feet upon the floor. I was afraid that John Merdith would in some way get his iron shoe entangled in something and we would both go down. But he seemed to have the strength of two men. Slowly but surely he forged ahead, holding me safely in his arms. When he reached a breathing space he turned and called to Jerry, who was a little way behind fighting frightened men like a demon. "Hathaway," he called, "bring my sister over here. My secretary and I will care for her and Judy. You, then, can give all your care to Miss Riley."

I was proud of John. He looked indeed what he had proclaimed himself—a god—he towered above the crouching men, and as they came near me in their frenzied intent to get out, he felled them to the floor as easily as though they were nine pins and then with one arm about me he would reach down and pull them up, cowed and ready to do his bidding.

I did not know there were so many people in the restaurant. The room seemed jammed. I learned afterward that all those from the kitchen, as well as from the private dining room, had rushed in at the first explosion.

Jerry and John's secretary fought themselves up to where we were standing with the girls safely in their care. John pushed them in front of him. "Make a flying wedge," he said, "and I will take anyone who tries to get within your guard."

By a wonderful exhibition of strength John began pushing me ahead of him as rapidly as possible, but I noticed with great pride that he never jeopardized any other man or woman in his anxiety to get me out.

Volumes of smoke from somewhere began clouding the air. It seemed to me that fate was laughing at our flight. John found time to bend to where my head was lying on his breast and say, "Judy darling, this is the most triumphant moment of my life. I am carrying, actually carrying to safety, just as any other man would, the woman I love. It makes no difference if I have a crippled arm and foot. If my other arm and foot are strong enough to do the work, and they will be, Judy, don't you be afraid."

"I am not afraid, John. I know it is he humbly possible for anyone to get me out of here you will do it and if—"

"Don't say it, Judy, don't say it. In just a minute more we'll be outside. Jerry and my sister have just passed through the door."

There was another ripping report and one of the gorgeous glass chandeliers, which for years had been one of the advertisements for the Beaux Arts, came crashing down upon us.

It's a queer thing, but afterward I remembered that at the first ominous cracking, I cast my eyes upward and that great mass of glass balls and heavy prisms breaking away from the ceiling.

Unwillingly I screamed. I felt myself borne swiftly to the floor as though someone had struck me down, and knew no more.

Before I opened my eyes again, hours afterward, I caught the smell of disinfectants and anaesthetics and I wondered if it were possible that I had been taken to a hospital. I still had a feeling of something pressing down upon my chest which I had had before I lost consciousness.

But I tried to move my hands and found that one of them

THE TINYMITES

THE TINYMITES

By Hal Cochran

THE hills rang out with voices clear. The sort of shouts that bring good cheer. The cart the Tynymites had built was sure a great success. As Mister Squirrel jumped through space, a smile broke out on every face, and Scouty loudly shouted, "This is great, I must confess."

It seemed that they were going fast; for trees and things went whizzing past. Each Tynymite was hanging on as tight as he could hold. They hit the bumpy spots and then flew in the air and back again. Then Carry said, "We're heading north. The air is getting cold."

Perhaps the strangest sort of stunt was Scouty, riding up in front. He sat upon the squirrel's back with legs dangling down. He'd sway to this side; then to that, and nearly lost his Boy Scout hat. In fact the others thought him quite as funny as a clown.

The trip to him was rather rough.

IS YOUR DAUGHTER SPOILED?

BY OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

I wonder if we are not too sentimental about our children. No, mother, this is not a "spare-the-rod-and-spoil-the-child" column. I've always classed corporal punishment with jails—the only thing left when the mischief is done and too late for anything else.

Sentimentalism isn't love—it is not even its shallow imitation. It is to the genuine emotion what the will-o'-the-wisp is to sunlight—and as misleading. We do many things for our offspring that common sense excuses on the ground of devotion. We should assure ourselves that it is genuine devotion which influences us to commit a folly, and not cheap sentiment.

Take the matter of clothes. Sentiment says, "I wish my daughter to be the best dressed girl in school. It would make her happy." Honest love says, "If you do that you will make a vain little prig out of her, and a thoroughly dislikeable woman when she grows up."

Sentiment says, "I don't wish my daughter to help with the housework."

I had to do it and my daughter of mine shall do it as long as I am here to do it for her." Kindness and honesty materialism says, "The best thing I can do for my girl is to teach her how to get a meal and keep house. Music and French and singing lessons alone can't make her thrifty all-around woman I wish her to be."

There are other things this sentimentalism does tops in regard to our children. That is silk-stocking, movie-crazy, money-spending, joy-riding youngsters who have won for themselves the sobriquet of the "new degeneration" is a product of this mistaken count of love is not to be doubted. They are victims of warped kindness in parents—who give them figurative ans with which to shoot themselves, because they cry for them.

One of the things we hear most often is, "That is thway he repaid his parents' after all their kindness to him." Any kindness in a parent that warps character is not kindness. It is cheap sentiment.

BREAKFAST—Casaba melon balls, cereal, thin cream, hashed flinnan haddie, crisp graham toast, milk, coffee.

LUNCHEON—Noodle soup, toast sticks, October salad, graham muffins, raisin cookies, milk, tea.

DINNER—Oyster gumbo, stuffed beet salad, baked apple custard, whole wheat bread, milk, coffee.

OCTOBER SALAD

Two russet pears, 1 tart apple, 1 tablespoon minced candied ginger, 4 tablespoons minced celery, 2 tablespoons chopped hickory nuts, 2 cups shredded cabbage, 4 tablespoons grated carrot, 4 tablespoons oil, 2 tablespoons lemon juice, 1 teaspoon sugar, 1/2 teaspoon salt, cooked salad dressing, 4 maraschino cherries.

Crisp cabbage in cold water for 30 minutes. Drain and dry between towels. Combine with carrots. Mix sugar, salt, oil and lemon juice and pour over cabbage mixture. Beat well with a work and chill while preparing the rest of the salad. Pare and dice pears. If a bright red apple is at hand, use it without paring, cutting in neat dice. Combine fruit, ginger, celery and nuts with enough cooked dressing to make moist. Arrange the cabbage in a border on salad plates and fill center with fruit mixture. Garnish with a cherry and serve.

The woman on a farm who does not always have lettuce on hand can serve a delicious salad without missing this salad green so essential to the average salad.

The pears, apples, nuts, celery, cabbage and carrots are at the disposal of the country housewife and the other ingredients for this salad are not perishable so she can serve her family an attractive dish rich in mineral salts and vitamins quite as easily as the city housekeeper who has an unlimited market to choose from. Brokaw Hall Plans First House Party

Brokaw hall, boys' dormitory at Lawrence college, will give its first house party Saturday evening, Nov. 6, it was decided at a meeting of the general council of the hall Wednesday evening. Three other parties will be given during the year.

With the approval of the administration of the college, the council voted last week to extend the social program at the dormitory to include house parties. This was a result of the partial student self government organization started this year.

Members of the social committee who will have charge of the arrangements for the parties and who will act as a sub-committee of the council are Bernard Herlick of Marshfield, chairman, Fred Kleiber of Wausau, and Bruce Pannier of Chippewa Falls.

THREE W. R. C. WOMEN ATTEND DISTRICT MEET

Mrs. Emma Loos, Mrs. Viola Fox and Mrs. J. H. Hanchett from the local corps, No. 12, Womens Relief corps, auxiliary to the Grand Army of the Republic and Comrade J. H. Hanchett attended the meeting of corps of District No. 14 Thursday afternoon at Hortonville. About 60 delegates from the district including Clintonville, Hortonville, New London, Antigo and Wausau attended the meeting. Crandon is also a member of district No. 14 but did not send representatives. Mrs. Dora Wilton of Oshkosh, past department president, inspected the lodge. Other guests at the meeting included several from Neenah and Menasha.

Falls. Chaperons at the parties will be Prof. A. D. Powers, F. A. Beck, and A. L. Franzke, dean of the hall.

CARD PARTIES

Fifty tables were in play at the open card party given Wednesday evening at Odd Fellow hall by the Rebekah Three Links club. Prizes were won at schafkopf by Mr. Kaurach, William Martin, Mrs. Mary Festers and Mrs. William Martin; at five hundred by Mrs. R. Gibson and at bridge by Mrs. Stella O'Keefe and Mrs. A. G. Koch.

Mrs. Catherine Gassner and Mrs. John Hollebach won prizes in schafkopf at the open card party given Thursday afternoon by the St. Joseph Ladies Aid society. Mrs. Anton Zickler won the prize at schafkopf. Eight tables were in play.

FATHER JOHN'S MEDICINE

BECAUSE her mother used it when she was a little girl, Mrs. D. J. J. Whitney, Melrose, Mass., knows the value of Father John's Medicine and has always used it for her own children now that she is responsible for the health and happiness of a growing family. Mrs. Whitney, like thousands of mothers, has learned to depend on Father John's Medicine when any of the family has a cold or a cough, or has become weak or run down. Its pure food elements build new strength to throw off disease. Its healing properties soothe the throat irritation and it helps to drive out impurities. And do not forget it is guaranteed free from alcohol and dangerous drugs.

BANK CLAIMS ARE FILED WITH CITY

National Bank Case Expected to Appear Soon in U. S. Supreme Court

A claim against the city amounting to $20,794.39, with interest at 6 per cent from Jan. 30, 1926, was filed Tuesday morning with E. L. Williams, city clerk, by the First National bank and Citizens National bank through their attorney, J. P. Frank.

This sum represents the personal property tax paid by the banks for their stockholders for 1926 on bank stock. The tax was paid under protest, as has all such tax been paid during the past five years.

The claim of the banks is based upon the contention that the state tax law, which provides for a tax on bank stock but not on stock in other enterprises, is discriminatory. In the majority of institutions taxes are paid upon income instead of stock, it is pointed out.

To make the law just, the banks allege it should be changed so that banks either would be taxed upon their income or other institutions be taxed upon their stock.

The issue was brought into litigation by the Hartford National bank several years ago, but the state supreme court upheld the state law. The bank then appealed the case to the United States supreme court, and the matter is expected to be brought before that court next month.

Should the latter court find in favor of the bank, the city would owe the two national banks here more than $100,000, representing the amount of taxes paid on bank stock under protest here the last five years.

MOTORCYCLE OFFICER ENTERS HOSPITAL

CAR PARKED AT CURB STRUCK BY MOTORIST

Automobiles belonging to Joseph Theyel and Herman Goffen, respectively, were slightly damaged in an accident in front of 1213 W. College-ave late Thursday night, according to police reports. The machine of Mr. Theyel, who was driving west on College-ave, collided with the parked car of Mr. Goffen, it was stated. The front end of Theyel's machine was damaged and a tire and fender wrecked on the Goffen car. No one was injured.

2 CARS STOLEN IN GREEN BAY FRIDAY

Thieves Ditch One Auto and Help Themselves to Second Machine

Not content with ditching one car which was stolen in Green Bay on Friday, automobile thieves helped themselves to another and continued on their way, it was reported to Appleton police.

According to the story the theft of a Cadillac sedan belonging to V. J. Minihan, Green Bay attorney, occurred first. The thieves drove this machine to near the Fox River Country club grounds, ran it into a ditch and helped themselves to a Willys-Knight roadster belonging to Charles McCann, an employee of the club. The license number is D-113-225.

In Appleton between 8:30 and 11 o'clock Thursday night a Ford coupe, property of the S. C. Shannon Co., wholesale grocers, was reported stolen from in front of Knights of Pythias hall, Lawrence-ave and Morrison-st. It is a 1924 model, license B-16359.

Nash coach, 1925 model, D-23,554 is missing from Milwaukee, and a Ford coupe, 1925 model, license B-19,777 was stolen at Manitowoc last Thursday, police say.

DRAMA AMID THE MIGHTY REDWOODS OF CALIFORNIA

"The Phantom of the Forest" is the title of the latest Gotham Production featuring "Thunder" the Marvel Dog at the New Bijou Theatre Friday and Saturday.

In this stirring drama of the great outdoors staged amid the mighty giant forests of the West, Thunder does some of the most thrilling and sensational stunts ever performed by an animal actor.

Additional novelty is given the production by the screen debut of "White Fawn," a beautiful police dog said to be the only pure white specimen in existence.

The Temptress
A Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer PICTURE

by their sheer tensi, combined with glittering spectacle, gorgeous pageantry, kaleidoscopic costume, combined with faultless acting and wonderful artistry, will find a perpetual joy in "The Temptress," playing at the Elite Theatre today, Saturday and Sunday.

It is a screen drama that has everything. From the pen of Vicente Blasco Ibanez, author of "The Four Horsemen," it tells a gripping story of Paris and South America; of a woman with the face of an angel and a soul of ice; whose charms wreck men's lives and sow the seeds of disaster wherever she goes—of a love strong enough to survive the weirdly evil destiny seemingly dealt by Fate to her lovers; of a gigantic maelstrom of human emotions.

Miss Garbo, as the seductive modern Circe, revels in glorious gowns; her beauty glitters with the brilliant hardness of a diamond; and, in the dramatic moments, her emotional acting approaches almost sublime heights.

"ALMOST A LADY"
Marie Prevost's new comedy production "Almost a Lady," which comes to the Fischers Appleton theatre next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, provides Miss Prevost, the star, with a splendid opportunity for pathos and the colorful roles in which she is at her best. Her supporting cast includes Harrison Ford, George K. Arthur, Barney Gilmore, Trixie Friganza and John Miljan.

"Almost a Lady" is based upon Frank Adams' story, "Skin Deep," and has as its central themes the tribulations of a poor modiste's model and the social inclinations of a newly-rich Irish couple. Marie Prevost, as the model, is asked by the Irish climber to impersonate a celebrated authoress who failed to appear at her first reception. Harrison Ford is mistaken for a duke. Complications, full of humor and drama, mark the denouement.

The comic situations are in the clever hands of Trixie Friganza as the newly-rich matron and her beer-drinking, life-loving simple husband, Barney Gilmore. The story was adapted for the screen by F. McGrew Willis. E. Mason Howard directed. Shown in conjunction with the appearance of Marajah the mystic and usual short subjects.

CONTINUE FIGHT ON GRASSHOPPERS IN FARM DISTRICT

Amount of Damage to Crops from Insect Has Been Reduced

Madison—(C)—Having substantially decreased the amount of damage to crops resulting from seasonal attacks of grasshoppers upon the grain belts, entomologists of the University of Wisconsin are preparing to launch new campaigns in Wisconsin farm districts in an effort to prevent a repetition of the insect's destructive work.

In the northern portion of Door county, where two years ago the hopper menace reached its height, Prof. A. A. Granovsky, university entomologist, sees the need of repopulating the "hopping" areas in order to clean out the breeding grounds of the grasshopper. The southern section of the county, where tobacco crops particularly in the past have suffered from the insect's attacks, there is also need for further activity on the part of farmers to stamp out the hopper, he said.

Early in the spring, the war against the grasshopper should be started, Prof. Granovsky said, in order to check the multiplication of the insect while still in the half-grown period.

In many portions of the state, areas that have been cleared of timber and have been converted into cut-over land, the necessity of poisoning the insects is imperative if farmers desire protection from the possible losses due to the spring and summer attacks of the insect, he said. The sections constitute land not covered by the entomologists and farmers in recent campaigns to bring about eradication of the devastating insect.

The cost of covering an acre of land with a poisonous compound amounts to 8 cents, Prof. Granovsky said, whereas the seasonal loss to oats and wheat particularly might reach hundreds of dollars over a wider spread area.

During recent years the grasshopper menace has constituted one of the great problems to be confronted by state entomologists and through law enforcement school huge savings in farmers have been effected by the dissemination of charts and literature dealing with the eradication of the pest.

MERCHANTS DEPEND ON CREDIT BUREAU

Credit Rating of More Than 17,000 Persons Is on File at Office

That Appleton merchants are depending more and more on the Merchant's Information Bureau of the chamber of commerce to determine the credit rating of new customers is indicated by the bureau records.

Although the bureau has been established only since 1921, the credit rating of more than 17,000 persons in Appleton and neighboring cities is on record, there, and new names are being continually added. Names of customers from Kaukauna, Kimberly, Little Chute, Combined Locks, New London, Clintonville and all surrounding municipalities are on file, and a separate list of residents of Neenah and Menasha also is available.

Between 325 and 375 calls for credit ratings are received by the bureau every month from members of the chamber of commerce, averaging approximately 15 calls a day.

Different classes of merchants make use of the bureau more frequently at certain times of the year, it is reported. During the past month inquiries from coal dealers have been especially numerous.

New names are continually being added and old names removed from the records, which are kept as up to date as possible by Mrs. E. G. Latham, director of the bureau. The completeness of the bureau depends of course chiefly upon the cooperation received from merchants in submitting the credit ratings of new customers, she points out.

The bureau has enjoyed a healthy growth since its origin, and indications point to a continued growth in the future.

The Colored Trails of Autumn are flaming with beauty! The whole countryside is a glorious riot of color—scarlets and golds and browns. Don't miss it! If you have a car, it's time to be up and away! Autumn skies are a deep blue. Autumn winds are rich with fragrance. A softened sunlight floods the earth and the air is like mellow wine.

If you are searching autumn beauty any road will do, for every highway holds a taunting lure for the motorist. Now is the time to roam your own Middle West and discover all the interest that it holds for you. This list of pleasure places is very brief—but you can make out your own!

- 1—Indian Trail State Park, Missouri, containing thousands of acres of rugged landscape. Once a favorite hunting ground for the Indians. Stocked with deer and wild turkey. Fine fishing near the park boundaries. On State Highway No. 19, twelve miles north of Salem.
- 2—Cataract of the Turkey River near Eldorado, Iowa, a region of great natural beauty. State Highway No. 11.
- 3—The grand canyon at Grassy Butte, the outstanding scenic spot of the Bad Lands of North Dakota, State Highway No. 26.
- 4—Hanson Military Reservation, Michigan, a 16,000-acre state park, located on the beautiful Lake Margharthe. State Highway No. 14.
- 5—Turkey Run State Park, Indiana, containing some of the largest and finest trees in the Middle West. Sugar Creek runs for a mile through the park. This stream with its tributaries has cut deep canyons through limestone which form one of the park's features. Three miles north of Marshall, State Highway No. 10.
- 6—Sturgeon Bay, Wisconsin, a summer resort country of beautiful woodlands and rocky bluffs. State Highways No. 17 and No. 78.
- 7—Site of Creve Coeur (Broken Heart) Illinois where La Salle built the first white man's fort in the Mississippi Valley. Beautiful roads wind along the Illinois River through this district. Near Peoria, State Highways No. 9 and No. 29.
- 8—Rapid City, South Dakota, the "Gateway to the Hills," on Rapid River. State Highways No. 30 and No. 40.
- 9—Point of Rocks, scene of several frontier Indian fights, two and one-half miles west of Pierceville, Kansas. New Santa Fe Trail.
- 10—Scenic State Park, Minnesota, 1632 acres of virgin pine forest surrounding Sandwick and Coon Lakes. North of Big Fork on State Highway No. 61.

SIGMA DELTA CHI WILL CONVENE AT MADISON NOV. 17

60 Embryo Journalists. Representing 39 Chapters. Will Attend

Madison—60 embryo journalists, representing 39 chapters of Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalistic fraternity, will convene at Madison in their work as delegates to the annual convention of the organization. The group will be composed of college students from all parts of the United States and a few from Canada. The convention for the chapter has been arranged by the University of Wisconsin school of journalism, which are to be in the city during the convention period, Nov. 17, 18 and 19.

Heading the list of convention speakers are journalists and educational leaders of the country, including Kent Cooper, general manager of The Associated Press, and Glenn Frank, president of the University of Wisconsin. Aside from the business to be conducted by the first day, lectures and dinner carousels have been arranged by the local chapter.

Beginning on the campus of the Panu University 17 years ago when a small group of students at the Indiana school banded together in the interests of journalistic pursuits, the organization has grown to include chapters of several hundred in undergraduate and alumni chapters in all parts of the country.

Men of the present time prominently identified with newspaper work throughout the nation first found their interest in the profession stimulated and cultivated in the groupings of the fraternity. Membership in Sigma Delta Chi during undergraduate days requires a pledge of loyalty to the profession and the intention of entering the journalistic field.

Numerous publications in each college are under the direct or indirect sponsorship of the organization, including humorous publications, newspapers and annuals. Climaxing the

A town with a community spirit of 16,000 residents, the city of Appleton has raised $1,112,000 for its industry fund. The fund is a result of a campaign which was conducted by the city and its citizens. The fund is a result of a campaign which was conducted by the city and its citizens.

SEPTEMBER COST OF BUILDING IS MORE THAN IN '25

Increase of $5,000 in Appleton Is Noted Over Same Month Last Year

An increase of $5,000 in the estimated cost of building projects authorized in Appleton 12 months over September, 1925, is indicated in the National Building Survey published by the U. S. Bureau of Census. The survey shows that the cost of building projects in Appleton for the month of September, 1926, was $1,112,000, as compared with $1,107,000 in September, 1925. The increase is due to a number of factors, including the increase in the cost of materials and labor.

SCHOOLS HAVE GOOD RAINING RECORD

85 Per Cent of All Students Depositors During Past Week

Four schools had perfect banking records in Appleton, Wis., for the week ending Oct. 29, when every pupil in the city had deposited at least one dollar in the local banks. The schools are the Appleton High School, the Appleton Junior High School, the Appleton Elementary School, and the Appleton Industrial School. The banks are the Appleton National Bank, the Appleton Savings Bank, the Appleton Trust Company, and the Appleton Building and Loan Association.

SAN FRANCISCO, NEWARK, N. J., BOSTON, ALBANY, CINCINNATI, CHICAGO, YONKERS AND COLUMBUS, O.

During September wages in the building trades were well stabilized, and employment, both present and prospective, in practically all the trades was generally satisfactory. In a survey of more than fifty principal cities, it was found that the advance in the average level of wages was small, although in some cities slight increases were made as of Oct. 1. While there are fluctuations in wage scales, it seems apparent that these fluctuations are within a narrow range and are not likely to result in a general increase in wages.

PLYMOUTH CLUB WILL MEET MONDAY NIGHT

The first meeting of the Plymouth Club of First Congregational church will be held at 8:15 Monday evening at the pastor's study at the church. All young married couples of the church have been invited to attend. The club will start its early course in the "The Modern Use of the Bible" by Dr. Harry Emerson Fosdick. Dr. H. E. Penbody will lead the course.

COUNTY TO RECEIVE $159,000 ROAD AID

A tentative estimate received from State Engineer J. T. Donahue, state highway commissioner, shows that Outagamie county will be allowed state road building aid for 1927 in the following amounts: For improvement of county trunk highway system, $22,656.72; for maintenance of the state trunk highway system in the county, $35,343.28. It was pointed out in the engineer's communication to the highway commission that the figures involved are not necessarily final until after the close of the fiscal year, June 30, 1927.

START CONCRETE WORK ON CARPENTER BRIDGE

Shannon-Boyer Construction Co., builders of the Carpenter bridge, state trunk highway 139, have the footings in and with weather conditions permitting expected to start pouring concrete Thursday noon. The contract involves an expenditure of approximately $1,700 and is one of the few unfinished road construction projects still moving in the county on the 1926 program.

NO MORE CONSTIPATION FOR HIM

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is 100% bran and 100% effective

Mr. Dunbar tried various laxatives and mineral springs in vain. Only Kellogg's ALL-BRAN relieved him. Read his testimonial: "I suffered from indigestion and constipation and varied nervous and mineral springs, which only gave temporary relief. Kellogg's ALL-BRAN relieved me from one of the greatest plagues of this age." Yours sincerely, L. D. Dunbar, Spartenburg, S. C.

Constipation is the bane of health. Over forty diseases may be traced to it. It fills the system with vile poisons and saps strength. You can't afford to ignore its warning signals. Dizziness, bad breath, spots before the eyes, are just a few of the symptoms. Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is guaranteed to relieve constipation or your grocer will refund the money. A delicious cereal, ready to serve. Fine with milk or fruit. Use in cooking too. Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is made by Kellogg in Battle Creek, Michigan, and sold by grocers everywhere. Served at leading hotels and restaurants.

"Can't Make a Whistle from a Pig's Tail"

No product can be better than its materials. Take cheapened gas of common grade. Its cheapness is attained in only one way—by utilizing as a proportion of its materials a part of the crude petroleum from which true gasoline cannot be made. These adulterants are rightfully the material for kerosene—not gasoline. And any liquid sold to you which is partly made up from those elements is to that extent kerosenish and under-value in a gasoline sense.

Kerosene harms. You notice it in slow starting, a longer wait for the warm-up before your motor can pull. The edges off your pick-up and speed, the power is dull and reluctant in heavy going. Your carburetor demands an expensive "rich" proportion of gas to air. Mileage suffers. But those are merely minor. Far overshadowing them is the permanent motor harm done by the kerosene which never wholly consumes. It drips past your pistons, weakening your oil, causing rapid wear, looseness, early and costly repairs.

True Gasoline 370 [at the Yellow Pumps]

begins its excellence by its rigid choice and control of materials. Kerosene cannot enter into it because the kerosene-bearing part of the crude oil is not touched by Wadhams refining. Everything is true gas. It vaporizes and sparks at once, explodes fully without dangerous residues. It works on the thin dry mixture of much air and little liquid—delivering maximum get-away, speed and power at less cost—besides insuring your motor against the permanent harm of weakened oil.

SATURDAY GAMES

LAKE FOREST AT LAWRENCE (W.-L.)

Beloit at Ripon (Midwest, state)

Carroll at Iowa.

Coach Mark Catlin's improved Lawrence college football team, encouraged by its fine showing holding Ripon to a 0-0 tie, will play one of its hardest games of the season here Saturday afternoon, when Lake Forest college of Illinois invades Wisconsin for a W. L. loop battle, the second for the Blues and the first for the Foresters. Lake Forest has an uncrossed goal line this year, having taken two wins and held two other opponents to 0-0 ties. These include Michigan State, which has scored on Michigan, and Western Cornell university, and still has games carried with Colgate and other large eastern schools.

The Catlinmen will go into the game strengthened by the return of Phil Nobles, 1924 halfback, and a variety of new plays all of the kind which should bolster any team when properly executed. However, the new strength is offset by the injury to Bert Nason, star half, who still is unable to play his usual game.

Bert may get into the battle but his bad ankle will not allow him to stand the pace of a full game. The Blue line is uncertain as plenty of second team men were worked into the squad in scrimmages this week and all looked good on the new plays, tearing off lots of ground against the foe. Shifts may be frequent against the strong Illinois squad which boasts three all-Illini men including a star center.

In the line Hippie will start at center, probably flanked by Steensland and Weinkauff, though Artz and Johnston will be ready to replace either at the least sign of a falter. At tackles with the Capt. Connell and Ott. Jessup will perform at one wing with either Bayer or Hilton at the other. Hillman also may see service at end or at a half.

In the rear wall Bloomer, who has been going better than ever will call plays with Dreher in reserve and Heideman also ready. Barfell and Bries will hold down two other rear wall berths with the third going to either Hunter, Nobles or Nason. Hunter probably will start with Nobles in reserve unless Nason's angle is ready for action. Other backfielders who may see action are Heideman, Hillman, Portz and Schlagenhauf.

Oberlander's Greatest Passes Whipped Harvard

BY "SWEEDE" OBERLANDER

Perhaps the two greatest passes that I made occurred together in the Harvard game last year in the stadium at Cambridge. They were identical plays, and each resulted in a touchdown. They were not the longest made but they were perfectly executed. The first one covered thirty-eight yards; the second, when caught, had traveled forty.

The game opened with Harvard scoring in the first quarter by a field goal kicked by Captain Cheek. Twice during that period we held them for downs within our own twenty-yard line.

Our backs were against the wall. We had no chance to present our offense. A second attempt by them for a field goal failed. The period ended. Now with the ball on our twenty-yard line we began to make a consistent march for a score.

Eventually we brought the ball to their thirty-eight yard line. We were in punt formation. The pass was called. The following play developed thusly: Horton, the second man on the tandem on the right, received the ball on a direct pass from the center.

He whirled and handed it to our quarterback, who had lined up on the left. I was in the kicker's position and as the play started, had run toward the sideline. Thus when MacPhail, our quarter, received the ball he was running parallel with me. When the end attempted to tackle him, he tossed the ball backward to me.

In the meanwhile, the ends had been tearing down the field. When I looked up, Tully was just clearing Crosby, the last defensive man. I spotted him as my mark. A long speedy pass was necessary. Without stopping, he picked it out of the air and was over the last chalk mark for a touchdown.

Our lead now well established, we opened up more recklessly with our passing game. In the third period we were approximately in the same position as when the above pass was executed.

Following the old adage "use the play as long as it works," MacPhail called again for the long pass. Again it worked exactly after the fashion of the first. Another touchdown was scored by the same man by taking a pass on the dead run after it had been in the air for forty yards.

MIDDIES SEEK TO A VENGE YOST SLAUGHTER

The most surprising upset of the 1926 football season was Michigan's overwhelming defeat of the Navy, 54-0. This year the Middies have a new coach and a much stronger eleven. While the Navy is not banking on victory, it is certain of holding Yost's undefeated eleven to a close score.

Dave's Dots And Dashes

Here's our dope for the games Saturday:

E. GREEN BAY 17, APPLETON 14.

LAWRENCE 7, LAKE FOREST 0.

Kaukauna 21, Two Rivers 6.

Marinette 28, Oshkosh 0.

Iowa 17, Carroll 7.

WISCONSIN 14, MINNESOTA 7.

Manitowoc is sure of resting in fourth place Saturday after the valley conference scores are in, basing its claim on a process of "elimination." The Ships say that the process of elimination is that of eliminating Appleton from fourth while the Johnsons rest, saying that East Green Bay should do that thing in good style. Manitowoc, boasts of a great record, all in one year, to refute claims of being the conference weak sister. Two of its claims still must be won, though one is fairly certain, cross-country. The Ships have a second in basketball, a second in track, a first in tennis and are contemplating a first in cross-country and a possible third in football.

We doubt the third in football very much and as for tennis and cross-country both are minor sports, being tried for the first time this year. The only things to boast about as far as we can see are two seconds in caging and track.

Appleton fans who witnessed the second-half slaughter at Fond du Lac, don't feel so confident about East high game. According to conference records, Stangel of Manitowoc, the man who handled that game, will be in charge at East. Stangel may have been a good fullback at Wisconsin, but we hope he has slept on his rule book well and often since the Appleton-Fondy game. His decisions were about as good as any grade school kid would make.

At least two Big Ten teams boast valley conference stars as regulars. At Wisconsin Kresky of Marinette is sort of tearing things up while at Northwestern "Eager" Panosh, old Manitowoc high star, showed so much at end against Notre Dame that he won a regular berth. Though only a soph he was being used as reserve center.

Peoria, Ill.—Billy Showers Chicago, and Glen Laga, Des Moines, fought a draw (10). Joe Pynchell, Chicago beat Don Carson, Indianapolis (5).

Classy Attack Of Maize Whipped Navy Last Year

BY BILLY EVANS

"Get the Navy's goat."

That was Michigan's slogan for weeks prior to the 1925 meeting between Coach Yost's warriors and the Middies.

Then the boys from Ann Arbor proceeded to do that very thing in a most convincing manner.

Forward passes flung by the deft Benny Friedman, a brilliant running attack by every member of the backfield and unstoppable backs by "Ed" Molenda, proved entirely too much for the Navy.

Michigan ran up the surprisingly large total of 54 points, while the future admirals from the United States Naval Academy seldom threatened the Wolverine's goal.

It was one of the worst routs in the Navy's football history. While hardly hoping for victory, the Navy felt capable of holding Michigan to a low score.

Michigan was at the top of its game that day. The Wolverines could do no wrong. Friedman's passes were long and accurate and always some eligible Michigan player was waiting to receive them.

Later in the season when I discussed the terrible slaughter of the Navy with Coach Yost of Michigan, he remarked: "No one for a minute feels that Michigan was 54 points better than the Navy, but that was our margin at the finish."

"We were, perhaps, over our head a bit while the Navy failed to play anywhere near its form. Those things just happen."

"I still have in mind a beating Illinois handed us when Grange ran wild. Illinois deserved to win that game but the score offered no real line on the comparative strength of the two elevens."

When Michigan plays a return game at Baltimore on Oct. 30, the Navy will be forced to meet another great Yost team. A majority of the experts believe it is superior to the eleven that so soundly trounced the Middies last year.

Michigan on the other hand, will line up against a vastly improved Navy eleven. It is conservative to say that the Middies are 30 per cent stronger than last season.

That may not be enough to trim Yost's pupils, but you can take it that the game will be far more interesting than the one-sided affair of last year.

A much improved backfield with the veteran Allen Shapley as the outstanding star forms the basis of the Navy's hopes to make plenty of trouble for Michigan.

ROUGHNECKS WHIP RINKEYDINK TEAM

A touchdown by Wilbur Murphy in the last half of a game between the Sacred Hearts Roughnecks and Fourth Ward Rinkeydinks gave the Roughnecks a 6-0 triumph Wednesday afternoon at Wilson field, trouncing Wilson high for the honors, 31-0.

The Roosevelt boys far outweighed their rivals and it was evident from the first few minutes of play that the size of the score was the only end point. The win gave Roosevelt the first claim on the Specator cup for the city title. A school must win it two years in a row to retain the trophy. Last year Wilson was crowned city titlist in an exciting 6-0 game at Whiting field.

REDS DISSATISFIED WITH LAWRENCE GAME

Ripon (CP)—Dissatisfied with the showing of the Ripon team in the 9 to 0 clash with Lawrence, Coach Carl Doehlin has been driving his team all week in preparation for the entertainment of Beloit's gridiron team Saturday.

Comparative scores, the dopester's favorite medium of prediction, show Beloit gaining in power as the season progresses, since it held Knox 6-0 last week. Ripon's strength, on the other hand, proved less formidable than promised, a victory over Lawrence having been confidently expected.

The Beloit game will be the last home encounter and also the last Midwest conference game this year for Ripon. Crowd almost equal to the homecoming crowd of 4,000 last week is expected.

At Doehlin led the winners with a 150 single game and a 520 series. For the losers Albrecht was the star with a 182 game and a 486 series.

BADGER, GOPHER GAME FEATURE OF SATURDAY BATTLES

Big Ten "Grudge" Struggle Ended in Tie for Last Three Seasons

Madison—Outstanding in importance of all Mid-western games this week, the Wisconsin-Gopher grid encounter at Camp Randall Stadium Saturday looms on the nearby horizon. The statisticians have it that Dr. Spears' boys will hie themselves northward after the smoke of the battle has cleared, with the laurels. At this writing, George E. Little, who instructs the Badgers in the pigskin art, will not concede this fact, for this certain Mr. Little is a great believer in the theory that a fighting eleven may often upset this dogmatic.

Regardless of advance reports, any meeting of these traditional rivals is an interesting ball game, and tomorrow's rumput will be no exception. Mixing it for the thirty-fifth time in their long relationship, the Gophers and Badgers have a grudge to settle which has been prolonged three years by tie contests. The thousands of hugs, who will fill the stands to overflowing, are assured of a keen afternoon entertainment when Wisconsin's defense, with her goal line uncrossed, faces the Minnesota attack which is heralded as one of the greatest in the country.

Schuette will no doubt start the game at a guard berth, and it is expected that Capt. Harmon will have the call at his old halfback job. Kreuz, Barnum and Crofoot will complete the backfield, with the possibility of Rose, Kresky and Shaw breaking into the fray the first half. Welch who scored a touchdown against Indiana after snaring a difficult pass and otherwise acquitted himself in a satisfactory manner, is slated to operate at left end. The sophomore wingman has been alternating with the veteran, Cameron, in recent rehearsals. Wisconsin will have a more diversified attack, for Little has handed out a handful of new plays and formations this week, which his proteges have mastered in good shape.

PROBABLE LINE-UPS

Wisconsin: Welch, Cameron LE; Schuette LG; Hyde, Johnson LG; Schuette LG; McKinnon or Hulstrand C; VonBremer RG; Walsh RB; Barrum RE; Wheeler (Capt.) QB; Crofoot QB; Alquist RB; Harmon (Capt.) LHB; Barnhart RB; Barnhart RB; Joesting RB.

ST. LOUIS CARDINALS CLAIM FIVE PLAYERS

The St. Louis Cardinals have recalled five players sent to the Syracuse club of the International League for seasoning. One of the five is Walter Pottger, an outfielder who is expected to star next season.

YOUNG WAITE HOYT WORKED LAMED ARM

Manager Huggins of the New York Americans finally has explained the failure of Waite Hoyt to use his fast ball more during the season. Just closed. Since June, Hoyt has been working with a very lame arm that eventually may shorten his big league career.

Chicago (CP)—Mike Dundee, Rock Island, beat Johnny Brown, Newport, R. I. (10).

Montreal—Leo (Kid) Roy, Montreal, Canadian featherweight champion, outpointed Vic Foley, Vancouver (12).

Referee—Stangel. Manitowoc: umpire—Barber. Two Rivers: Head linesman—Fellers. Menominee: Two of the strongest teams in the Fox River Valley Conference will clash Saturday afternoon at Green Bay, when Appleton's Tackling Terrors meet the all-star East Baymen. The Baymen have had been acknowledged a strong squad since the season started, while Appleton has fought its way to that position by upsets of the logs against apparently stronger teams. The Orange now rank as the darlings of the loop. Because of this and its season's record East is considered the favorite in the struggle, but the Tackling Terrors seem to like to upset dope.

Blocking, tackling and forward pass defense have been the drills at the Blue this week, while Appleton worked mainly on pass defense with plenty of offensive work. Scouts from the Redmen who saw the Appleton-West game had Coach Wiley working his line hard this week to perfect a stonewall defense against the Orange linemen and Chuck Johnston, who Coach White of West says is the best tackle in the valley, line this year. That will be seen Saturday.

Two of the best linemen in the conference will face Appleton in Steele, a tackle, and Becker center. Becker was named all-conference center unopposed last year, a strange happening. Liethen is sure to have his hands full taking care of the husky Baymen. In the rear wall Klaus is the triple threat man, a good kicker and passer and a fine plunger. He and McGuire, star quarter of last year's champs, both pass well and will change off at the job to puzzle Appleton. Shekore and Reynolds also are stars of the Bay rear wall.

With the exception of one end and the backs, Appleton's starting lineup is sure to be the same as against West. Cookson, playing his last game for the Orange, has a bad shoulder. Witake is out of his usual halfback job and Johnson, sensation of the valley, has a charley horse, which may bother him. Here's East's idea of where Appleton's strength lies as taken from the Bay paper:

"Judging from the way Appleton has been going the last few games, East will have their hands full this week. The gridiron from the College City are rated as one of the best tackling elevens in the Little Eight conference and if they run true to form here Saturday, the Wiley backfielders may find plenty of trouble marking up yardage."

"In Liethen, Johnston and Getchow, the Appleton machine has a trio of players who can hold their own with any others in this 'muck of the woods.' Johnston, especially, is cracked up to be a demon line player. He tips the beams at about 185 pounds and holds a record of doing the '100' in 10 seconds. Johnston holds down the left halfback berth on Coach Shields' aggregation.

Liethen and Getchow, center and tackle, respectively, have been giving a good account of themselves so far this season. The Appleton center who lacks the 200 pound mark by only a few pounds is much at home tearing

What? You Ask; A Country Club For Our Policemen? And Why Not? Look What Detroit Cops Have Done

BY W. M. BRAUCHER

Detroit—Next time you hear anybody proclaiming that there's nothing new under the sun, send him to Detroit.

To Detroit, where something as new as a one-hour-old baby has forthcome in the way of civic initiative and social progress.

To Detroit, where the police force has organized a country club! It's a scintillating, populating, indisputable fact, reader. You'll sense the verity of it immediately upon your arrival in Detroit and your first contact with the "finest"—a jolly crowd of half fellows well met, a so-called bunch, the last word in the formalities of the tea table or the putting green.

Persons arrested here recently have sensed it. They found the police the most personable, companionable lot imaginable.

It's the country club clan that has done it.

GOLF: NOT BARNYARD

You don't find the Detroit police out back of the engine house or hours, flipping the horses' booties at a stake in the ground, with a lot of pol polloi firemen around. No, sir!

If you want to locate a Detroit copper in his leisure time, hasten to the Detroit Police Country Club and view the night stick wielders whaling the hump off a bunker.

Come on and let's watch them awhile.

What's this? Who is yon Hercules mining along with a set of strange implements that look like a cluster of toothpicks in that hammy hand?

Just, chaplain! Silence. Can you not discern that the contestant is about to attempt a 12-foot putt?

Shades of Patrick Wennessey. Shades of all the horny-handed harness bulls who ever cracked a crook's skull! 'Tis putting they are!

Seriously though, it's been a really pleasant thing. It all started a few summers ago when Patrolman Elwood Compton invited a few of his fellows to a little cottage down by Lake Erie.

Such an enjoyable time was had by all that Compton decided the boys should have a country club all their very own.

With 3,000 men on the force, each with one day a week off, there would be no trouble keeping the rough busy (and the fairways, too, after a while). They saved their nickels and went ahead with the plan. As a result the Detroit Police Country club is nearing completion at Wheatley, Ont., on the Canadian shore of Lake Erie.

ONLY A SHORT DRIVE
It's just a short 44-mile drive; you know, and almost every policeman listed in the social register has some kind of a car these days. Later the club plans to have a private bus de luxe to convey the members to and fro.

Of course, just as a detail, you can get a glass of beer in Wheatley if you have the impulse. The police, to be sure, don't care a druth for the beer, but then it's there, you see, and if the president or Babe Ruth or some of the visiting motormen ever care for a draught, they can be accommodated.

A share of capital stock is cheap enough—a mere $100, a bagatelle to a well-to-do policeman. Then the dues are $12 a year. Of course there are lots of business men who are willing to buy stock in an enterprise like that.

Later on, of course, there will be a few boats, and perhaps the richer among the patrolmen will be able to set up yachts.

The help will be Chinese. They run the laundry, cook and wait on table.

The club appointments offer everything a policeman must have in the way of artistic. There is a fireplace in the parlor and in the dance hall the beamed ceiling is decorated with Tiffany stucco work. A buffet is so arranged that refreshments can be served either on the porch or in the ballroom. Antique chains and tongs in wrought iron have been placed to handle the logs in the great ballroom fireplace.

The club membership is growing rapidly. A copper who has no membership card is in a bad way socially in Detroit these glided days.

But the firemen are sticking to their horseshoes.

UNIFORM CEMENT MADE AT NEW CENTRAL PLANTS

Chicago—(AP)—The American plan of standardization is spreading through the cement industry, so that 23 cities over the country now have in successful operation central mixing plants where ready mixed, unhardened concrete is prepared for instant delivery to any part of town.

The uniformity of the product makes an especial appeal to contractors, and as these plants mix it, hauls of eight to ten miles may be made without impairing the quality of the product. In order to haul the wet concrete it must be of stiff consistency, and as the less water used, the stronger will be the finished concrete.

INDIANAPOLIS ADOPTS INDUSTRIAL PROGRAM

An industrial program which probably will be taken up by other chambers of commerce throughout the country is being conducted by the Indianapolis Chamber of Commerce and citizens of that city, according to information received at the local chamber. The program is expected to result in increased industrial activity through encouraging expansion of industries in the city and the location there of new industries.

One of the purposes of the program is described as follows:

"To develop work of securing new industries and conserving and developing the present industries of Indianapolis through the employment of an experienced industrial sales engineer backed by an organization to permit the proper research work and adequate financing of projects for the development of industrial Indianapolis."

The program is being conducted at a cost of $25,000 and will result in creating a fund of more than $150,000 a year to be used in making, seeking, and grasping opportunity.

PREFERS CHILD'S MIND AS BEST MOVIE-CRITIC

Hollywood—(AP)—A child's mind, unrestrained by any sense of consideration for feelings of others, qualifies its owner as the best critic for motion picture scenarios.

This is the conclusion of Walter Woods, the scenarist who prepared and adapted the screen versions of "The Covered Wagon," "Pony Express," "Old Ironsides," and other film productions.

"Children are far more frank than grown-ups," Woods says. "A child will say exactly what he thinks. When it comes to testing a story's worth, give me a kid audience every time."

Woods believes that a child's mind also is far more receptive than a grown-up's and things that impress him remain, while things that do not are quickly erased from his memory.

"Another thing I find is that children spot story weaknesses far more rapidly than grown-ups. Frequently they find flaws that I have completely overlooked. Instead of searching for hidden meanings, they face a story squarely and find faults a grown-up would not see."

INDIANAPOLIS ADOPTS INDUSTRIAL PROGRAM

An industrial program which probably will be taken up by other chambers of commerce throughout the country is being conducted by the Indianapolis Chamber of Commerce and citizens of that city, according to information received at the local chamber. The program is expected to result in increased industrial activity through encouraging expansion of industries in the city and the location there of new industries.

One of the purposes of the program is described as follows:

"To develop work of securing new industries and conserving and developing the present industries of Indianapolis through the employment of an experienced industrial sales engineer backed by an organization to permit the proper research work and adequate financing of projects for the development of industrial Indianapolis."

The program is being conducted at a cost of $25,000 and will result in creating a fund of more than $150,000 a year to be used in making, seeking, and grasping opportunity.

$1,000,000 To end Colds
The 24-hour way

There's a way to end colds so efficient, so complete that we paid $1,000,000 for it. That way is HILL'S. It stops colds in 24 hours, checks fever, opens the bowels, tones the entire system. The millions who know it always rely on it. Go start it now.

Formal Frocks OF RARE DISTINCTION $16.75 to $29.75

Everyone is delighted with the formal fashions the minute they appear in town. And they have arrived a little earlier this season than usual.

Again they appear triumphant with all their new fascinations—creations that are gracefully beautiful—delightfully feminine. So exquisitely fashioned of lustrous satins, handsome crepes, stately velvets, dainty chiffons.

BUDAPEST GIRLS MUST GIVE UP SHORT SKIRTS

Dudapest, —(AP)—The school girl of Budapest will have to give up bobbed hair, short skirts and low neck dresses, or else give up their education. The municipal senate has so decreed. The senate also decided that the girls in the secondary school must not wear stockings of light coloring. Henceforth Budapest girls, going or coming from school, must wear stockings of either brown or black.

TOWNSSCHOOL BUSINESS
MOST IMPORTANT
IN WHOLE WORLDSuperintendent Cavanaugh
Tells Parent-Teacher Club
of Educational Work

Kaukauna—James F. Cavanaugh, superintendent of schools, was the principal speaker at the Parent-Teacher's association meeting Thursday evening in the east assembly of the Kaukauna high school building. The speaker was introduced by President William Ashe Sr. Mr. Cavanaugh's theme was an Outline of the School Policies for Kaukauna. Mr. Cavanaugh opened his talk by saying that of all the big businesses in the world the school business is the biggest. From 40 to 50 per cent of the tax payers' money goes for the education of the children, he said.

"The money we spent on our children now," the superintendent said, "will be returned to us a hundred fold when they are grown up and they are trying to work along that line in the local schools and so far we have been successful. In order to find the ability of each student standardized tests are given. School work is real work and is not play. It is preparation for the life beyond the school which is anything but play. Some parents who have had to toil and work hard, but have become successful say, 'Never shall my child have to work like I have had to, they shall have some of the pleasures of this world. This is not giving the children a right start in life.'"

Mr. Cavanaugh said Kaukauna schools were recommended for the splendid work they were doing in geography and that they had received many letters asking for suggestions from other schools. The superintendent explained that the most important study in school was reading. One must read intelligently before one can follow any other subject.

Mr. Cavanaugh said that he contemplated organizing more clubs in the school during the coming year. One of these will be organized to teach good manners. These are extremely necessary in high school. He said.

A discussion followed Mr. Cavanaugh's talk. Students of the high school presented a program of music and entertainment previous to the business meeting. It included a scene from Booth Tarkington's story "17" with Bessie Dorus, Cecilia Wolff and Carl Fels as the leading characters. Mr. Gilbert Starke spoke on the Scientific World of Tomorrow. Alex Jacobson and Lucille Zink sang a duet and Mabel Look played a piano solo. Helen Fahnke told of Paul Revere as an engraver of silver ware. Helen Esler was chairman of the program.

PIONEER CHILTON
MAN HAS BIRTHDAYWilliam Dorschel Observes
85th Birthday at Home of Son

Special to Post-Crescent
Chilton—William Dorschel, one of the pioneer residents of this city, celebrated his eighty-fifth birthday Thursday at the home of his son, Oscar. Mr. Dorschel, although a Canadian by birth, came to this country as a young man and has lived in Wisconsin for over sixty years. His son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Frank DuBois of Milwaukee, came up to spend the day with him.

The ladies of Morning Star Rebekah Lodge No. 177 gave a card party in the Odd Fellows rooms Wednesday. After card playing a lunch was served. The following were the prize winners: Bridge, Mrs. Reuben Mayles, Mrs. Herman Voss, Robert Larson and Dr. P. E. Ortlieb; 500, Miss Katherine Ortlieb; Mrs. Selma Haessler, Dr. Roy Klodan and John Piper; schafkopf, Mrs. Ida Schneider and A. Von Busch; star, George Gruber, William Pagel, Louis Stark and Emil Schmitt. Dr. Daniel Burghalter of Tiffin, O., field secretary for the board of foreign missions of the Reformed church, gave a lecture on his travels in Japan and China at the Ebenezer Reformed church Wednesday evening. The lecture was illustrated with lantern slides.

Mrs. Emil Jensen of Plymouth is visiting relatives in this city. G. M. Morrissey and G. Raymond Holdridge went to Fond du Lac Thursday evening to attend a meeting of principals and assistants of high schools adjacent to Fond du Lac. J. T. Giles, high school supervisor, was the principal speaker. Clarence Cross and son Eugene spent Tuesday in Appleton. A marriage license was issued this week by the county clerk to Reuben Schmaltz and Irene Lunak, both of the town of Hurlock. S. R. Kente of Chicago was a visitor at the high school Thursday in the interests of Menter, Bush and Co.

MAYTAG WASHERS IN
FIRST PLACE TIETake Three Games from Runtes While Bankers Win
Two Tussles

Kaukauna—The Maytag Washers went into a tie with the Bankers for first place in the Kaukauna Business Men's Bowling league Wednesday evening when they took a clean sweep of all three games from the H. T. Runte team, forcing the latter from second to seventh place. Andrews showed the Mulforda further into the cellar by winning two out of three games from them and the Bankers won the same number from Bayorgens to remain in a tie for the lead. The Pendergast-Kaukauna Lumber Co. game was postponed. The highest three game total score was rolled by Engstrom when he hit the pins for a count of 572. Amay, Bayorgens, Mulholland and Van Ellis of the Runte team rolled 210 for the highest single game score and A. Bayorgens was second with 204.

SOMMERS IS NEW
FOREST JUNCTIONGerhard Brooks Post Elects
Officers and Hears Annual Reports

Forest Junction—Annual reports were submitted and routine business was disposed of at the annual meeting of the Gerhard Brooks post of the American legion on Wednesday evening. Officers elected for the ensuing year are: Michael Sommers, commander; Henry Brooks, vice-commander; William Keiser, adjutant; Otto Schley, finance officer; Oscar Luckow, historian; Harry Luckow, chaplain; A. F. Wiechman, sergeant-at-arms; Herbert Krueger, service officer. The meeting was held in the hall of the American legion at Forest Junction. The post was organized in 1923. It will also be the second anniversary of the members of the post were present.

Frederick Z. Zimmermann, candidate for governor, and Frederick C. Aebischer, district attorney of Calumet county, were principal speakers at a conference held at the community hall here at 8 o'clock Monday evening. It will be the second opportunity for the people in this vicinity to hear the secretary of state, as Mr. Zimmermann addressed an audience here at a Fourth of July celebration in 1923. It will also be the second appearance of Mr. Aebischer, who spoke here in behalf of the candidacy of the late Senator La Follette in the presidential campaign of 1924.

TEACHERS AT CONFERENCE

Teachers from eight rural schools were in attendance at a conference conducted by Miss M. O. Horn, county superintendent of schools, at McKinley school on Tuesday afternoon. With the school in session, practice teaching and observation were engaged in during the afternoon's program. Miss Margaret Danielson of Longsville, school, taught a class in seventh and eighth grades; Miss Little Loefer of Webster school, taught a class in fifth and sixth grade history; the other classes were taught by Miss Frances Stannelle, teacher of the school where the conference was held.

Following the dismissal of the pupils at 4 o'clock, a discussion of the methods observed was held until 5:30. Other teachers besides those mentioned who attended were Misses Agnes and Helen Platy, Hildegard Olm, Myra Beecher, and Mabel Stern. Schools of the visiting teachers were closed for the half day.

An entertainment will be given at McKinley school on Friday evening, Nov. 5. Rehearsals are in progress for a number of dialogues and recitations. A social gathering and refreshment sale will follow the literary part of the evening. The proceeds of the sale are to be expended for the purchase of school equipment.

MEET PRESIDENT COOLIDGE

The Rev. Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Franke and daughter Rachel returned on Thursday evening from a 15-day tour of the eastern part of the United States. With the city of Williamsport, Pa., as their chief objective, where the General Conference of the Evangelical church was in session this month, they extended their itinerary to include the national capital and the surrounding places and the Sesqui-Centennial exposition at Philadelphia. A letter of introduction from Congressman Lampert admitted them into the presence of President Coolidge for a handshake during one of the usual noon day receptions; and through the favor of an usher, whose home is in Wisconsin, they were privileged to occupy a pew directly in front of President and Mrs. Coolidge at a Congressional church service. Twice during their journey, once in Washington and once in Philadelphia, they were in the line of waiting when Queen Marie of Romania passed. In Philadelphia, they attended a Presbyterian church service where a Dr. McCartney, writer for the Ladies' Home Journal, is pastor.

END TRAINING FOR
TWO RIVERS GAMESmith Has Six Men to Use in Backfield on Saturday Afternoon

Kaukauna—The Orange and Black football team ended its intensive training for the Two Rivers game Thursday afternoon. Skull drill was all that remained for Friday. The team has chartered a bus for the trip and will leave Kaukauna about 10 o'clock in the morning. Quite a number of students will accompany the team to the Lake Shore city. The Kaukauna are looking for a hard battle as Two Rivers beat Neenah 10 to 0 and Kaukauna beat Neenah by only one more touchdown. M. Miller is at left end with Crevecoeur in at guard. This is expected to bolster up the line considerably. Center William Smith has six men he can use in the backfield and his choice for the four position Saturday's game will not be given out until a few minutes before the game. Undoubtedly Smith will use as many men as he can to get a line on them for the Appleton game.

CLARION, SCHOOL ANNUAL, PLACED IN SECOND CLASS

Appleton Yearbook Entered in Competition First Time Last Year

A second class rating was granted the 1926 Clarion, Appleton high school yearbook, by the committee representing the Central Interscholastic Press association which judged 489 yearbooks from colleges and high schools sent from the United States and its colonial possessions. Books were divided into classes on the basis of the number of students enrolled at the schools, and secondary and higher educational institutions were separated.

The rating given to the Clarion was to books above the average but which had not used all of their opportunities to the best advantage. Criticisms and suggestions will be sent to the schools by the committee telling where the books were weak and how they could be improved. Last year was the first time the Appleton annual had been entered in the contest.

Appleton competed with schools with schools with an enrollment of from 500 to 1,300 students. The local schools has slightly more than 700 students last year. Other Wisconsin schools receiving the same rating and in the same class were, Sheboygan, Superior, LaCrosse and Racine.

Each book was carefully reviewed and analyzed by the committee, it was said, and items such as the theme of the book, how the finances were managed, art work, etc. were judged.

Of the annuals entered, 100 were given all American ratings: 150, first class; 129, second class; 57, third class; and 23, fourth class. Appleton high school has had a yearbook for three years. Prior to that time a senior annual was published at the close of the year as the main number of the monthly magazine. Daryl Myse was editor of the 1926 clarion.

SALVATION DRIVE AT HALF WAY MARK

Workers Continue Campaign Confident of Successful Results

Approximately half of the $4,000 quota the Salvation Army is attempting to raise in Appleton in its annual campaign for funds this week was subscribed the first three days. It was reported Thursday morning at Army headquarters.

It is impossible to secure an accurate report of the exact amount raised thus far but solicitors have been meeting with excellent responses everywhere and feel confident that the quota will be reached by Saturday night, the time set for the official closing of the campaign.

Arrangements to have all schools in the city solicited were completed Wednesday by Ben J. Rohan, city superintendent of schools, while similar action at the police and fire departments has been taken by George T. Prim, chief police. Plans for a solicitation of the city water department employees have been made by Fred Morris, secretary Appleton water commission, and William Zuehlke postmaster, has done the same at the postoffice.

SPECIAL MAIL SERVICE IS OFFERED TO CUBA

A special delivery service to Cuba has been announced by the United States Postal department, according to word received at the Appleton postoffice Thursday. The new service is to go into effect Nov. 1. All registered and unregistered articles in the regular mails will be delivered special upon payment of 20 cents in addition to the regular postage. Articles for special delivery must be marked, Express (Special Delivery.)

With three days remaining to raise the remaining $2,000 necessary to reach the quota, solicitors Tuesday morning set out with enthusiasm, confident that the campaign would go over the top this time. Only $2,000 was raised during the entire campaign last year, and the work of the local corps has of necessity been seriously handicapped in 1926, it is pointed out by officials.
